ALLIED ARMIES PUSH INTO SAAR BASIN

YANKS REDUCE JAP POSITIONS IN LEYTE TRAP

GRIM INFANTRYMEN PREVENT BREAK AT LIMON

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Tuesday, Nov. 21 (AP)—Grim American infantrymen of the 32nd division are making "steady progress" in reducing strongly fortified Japanese positions near Limon, at the northern end of Leyte Island's Ormoc corridor, headquarters reported today.

The American road block across Ormoc highway south of Limon still holds, despite heavy Japanese attack. The imperial First division, aided by artillery and armor, is attempting to break through the trap enfolding them around Limon.

The Yanks repulsed another enemy counterattack west of Ormoc road, where a three-hour bloody battle was reported in yesterday's communique.

Leyte-based American fighters attacked enemy communication lines and installations throughout the Ormoc corridor.

Typhoons Lash Area

Thirty-five enemy fighters and diveboombers ineffectively raided American positions. Seven were shot down by fighters and anti-aircraft fire.

Another tropical typhoon, with continuous rains, lashed the battle area.

Bridges have been washed out, streams flooded and roads transformed into waterways, headquarters said. All traffic by ground and sea is "fraught with great difficulty and hazard and battle conditions are becoming static."

The Japanese were reported in a frontline dispatch yesterday to be infiltrating American positions on northern Leyte, around Limon and near Carigara Bay, more than two miles northward.

45,000 Jap Casualties

Small enemy forces attacked near Pinamopoan, more than two miles north and in the rear of Limon, where a considerable Nipponese force is trapped, and also east of Pinamopoan. Both attacks were repulsed.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Monday communique reported enemy casualties in the ground fighting on Leyte in the first month of battle had passed 45,000. American casualties were placed at 1,133 killed, 126 missing and 4,432 wounded, a total of 5,691.

Landing of Allied forces in the Asia Island group, 130 miles off the northwest tip of New Guinea, and completion of the occupation of the Mapia Islands in the same area were announced by MacArthur. Occupation of the small Asia Islands apparently was for the same purpose as that of the Mapia group—to remove enemy observation outposts.

Saginaw Notified To End Pollution

Lansing, Nov. 20 (AP)—Characterizing the city of Saginaw as "the largest in the state without sewage treatment and collection," the state stream control commission today served formal notice on that community that it must have a treatment system in operation within two years of the release of war-blocked construction materials.

The notice ordered Saginaw to file plans and specifications with the state health department by Sept. 1, 1945.

Japs Claim China Now Severed North To South

BY SPENCER MOOSA

Chungking, Nov. 20. (AP)—Chinese troops are fighting inside Bhamo, strongest remaining Japanese base in North Burma, and have recaptured the Burma Road town of Mangshih, 62 miles inside China from the Burma border, the Chinese high command announced today.

Against these Allied victories, the high command acknowledged indirectly that two great Japanese forces aggregating probably 250,000 troops who are invading Kwangsi province from the east and north had completed a junction west of Liuchow, severing China and completing an unbroken link all the way from Manchuria to Hong Kong.

(The Tokyo radio in a broadcast recorded by the FCC declared that the U. S. Air Force in China had destroyed and abandoned its air field at Nanning (Yungning), about 100 miles south-southwest of the point where the Japanese junction appeared to have been effected. The unconfirmed Japanese report said the Nanning Field was "the sole enemy air base in south China.")

Arrivals in Chungking reported that all routes leading from the danger zone in Kwangsi province were choked with refugees—a sorry spectacle of human misery. It was conservatively estimated that a total of 70,000,000 Chinese now had fled their homes since the war with Japan began in 1937.

A communique said that Bhamo, south of Myitkyina and 175 miles northeast of Mandalay, was penetrated by Chinese troops Saturday after a heavy American divebombing attack and that bitter fighting was going on in the streets. The town was encircled by the Chinese.

Mangshih, third important Burma Road town to fall to the Chinese in their offensive in western Yunnan province, was captured last night in a frontal attack coupled with a donble envelopment, the high command said.

Indication that the two Japanese forces invading southern China had formed a junction near Liuchow came in the high command's report that the column which originally drove west from the Canton area had thrust 15½ miles northwest from Hsincheng to a point about 47 miles west-southwest of Liuchow. The enemy column which drove down from the north and captured Liuchow and Ishan on the Kwangsi-Kweichow was said to have stabbed southward from Ishan to close the gap.

Any Chinese troops remaining in a pocket southwest of Liuchow appeared to have been trapped.

GERMANS HELD IN MURDER PEN

Civilians Live In Camp Used By Nazis As Slaughterhouse

BY NED NORDNESS

Vaught Concentration Camp, Holland, Nov. 20 (AP)—German civilian evacuees are living in comparative comfort in this huge concentration camp which once was a Nazi slaughterhouse.

There still are grim reminders of the horror under Nazi rule, when 30,000 Dutch civilians were believed to have been put to death here. Nearby is the crematory where more than 13,000 persons perished. Part of the gallows where the Germans hanged civilians still stands.

Barbed wire around the camp no longer is charged with electricity and civilians no longer are shot for stepping within 12 feet of the fence. That is not the style of Allied management of internees.

These German men, women and children have been removed from the battle in Germany, and living conditions for them are better than they would be in the combat zone.

In Germany their homes were shelled by the Allies and now are being blasted again by German artillery. Here they live in barracks, but the barracks are warm and they are safe.

"They are under one restriction," said a British colonel commanding the camp. "They are allowed three meals of a total calory value of the normal food ration in Holland today—and that isn't very nice."

These Germans mostly are farmers and Catholics. The colonel appointed a Catholic priest as their head and he transmits the colonel's orders.

WAR POWERS OKAY EXPECTED

Congress Expected To Extend Wartime Act Speedily

BY HOWARD FLIEGER

Washington, Nov. 20. (AP) — A one-year's extension of the second war powers act—keystone of the war production and rationing program—started on its way through congress today.

A sub-committee reported the extension to the house judiciary committee without recommendation after a one-day hearing. That means any changes in the act must be worked out by the full committee which meets Wednesday.

Although the sub-committee's action did not give the measure formal approval, there was every indication that it will have no trouble getting through the short session of congress. There may be minor changes.

Without a renewal the war powers act would expire at the close of this year. Administration spokesmen say the renewal is needed to keep the war production program intact until the end of hostilities.

John Lord O'Brian, chief counsel for the War Production board, told the committee today the act made possible "the entire structure of war controls which made possible America's unmatched achievement in war production."

He asked that the bill be renewed without change because industry and the public have become accustomed to the economic controls as they stand.

In addition to WPB, the act is authority for the Office of Price Administration's rationing program and for the war powers of the War Food Administration and other government agencies.

The house military committee today approved a bill which would extend for the war's duration the office of undersecretary of war. That office will go out of existence Dec. 31 unless renewed.

Tomorrow the house takes up a crop insurance bill, ticketed for passage on the so-called "non-controversial" agenda of the seventy-eighth congress' closing session.

A house committee on executive agencies recommended a streamlined congressional procedure today designed to straighten out many of the tortuous channels through which legislation now must pass.

A joint legislative staff of both branches of congress to cut down the time needed for committee hearings; a joint appropriations committee to cut in half the separate investigations now made by both committees; a joint committee to keep tab on the conduct of administrative and executive agencies; a joint committee to recommend improvements in congressional procedure.

B-29S ATTACK JAP HOMELAND

Kyushu Aircraft Center Is Target For Large Bombing Force

Washington, Nov. 21 (AP) — "A large task force" of B-29 Superfortress bombers hit the island of Kyushu in Japan's homeland today.

Flying from China, the big planes dropped their explosives against industrial targets, said an announcement by General H. H. Arnold.

Kyushu is the southernmost of the Japanese home islands. On it is Omura, a big aircraft center. Omura was among the spots hit Nov. 11 when the Superfortresses completed their seventh mission in 27 days.

Announcement of today's attack was made in these words:

"A large task force of B-29 aircraft from the 20th Air Force today attacked industrial targets on the island of Kyushu, in the Japanese homeland, General H. H. Arnold, in his capacity as commanding general of the 20th Air Force, announced at the war department.

"The mission was carried out from China bases by Major General Curtis E. LaMay's 20th bomber command. A communique will be issued when further details are available."

FROZEN LATVIA SCENE OF RED WINTER DRIVE

GERMAN DIVISIONS PINNED AGAINST BALTIC SEA

BY W. W. HERCHER

London, Nov. 20 (AP) — Russian troops fought their way today into the outskirts of Miskolc, Hungary's fifth largest city, and Berlin announced that the Red army opened its grand winter offensive on the frozen terrain of western Latvia, where 30 German divisions are pinned against the Baltic Sea.

German escape roads out of Miskolc, 85 miles nodtheast of besieged Budapest, were cut on the east and west as the Russians drove through Csaba, less than a mile south of Miskolc, a Russian bulletin announced.

Russian troops in Hungary also drove to within two miles of Eger, another mountain town commanding the invasion roads to southern Slavakia 22 miles southwest of Miskolc.

Moscow did not confirm the Latvian drive which Berlin said was sprung from the Russian salient around Priefkule, 20 miles east-southeast of the Baltic port of Liepaja, one of the harbors available for any Nazi escape by sea.

Drive Unconfirmed

German radio accounts of the battle said it began Sunday—celebrated throughout Russia as Red army artillery day—with a crashing artillery barrage along a front 20 to 30 miles wide. They all agreed it was a major assault.

This new onslaught, coming a few days after the general Allied push on the western front, was considered the first of the "new devastating blows" which Marshal Stalin promised would be struck in the east.

The drive was not yet confirmed by Moscow.

Col. Ernst Von Hammer, German military commentator, said of the attack against the 5,000-square-mile pocket: "Strong Russian forces yesterday morning started another all-out offensive against the southern flank of the Courland (peninsula) front.

Later DNB news agency broadcast that a "murderous" drumfire barrage and waves of assault aircraft supported the attack. "The Russians made full use of the frozen ground and sent in masses

FERGUSON ASKS SENATE INQUIRY

Suggests Calling Kimmel And Short In Pearl Harbor Probe

Washington, Nov. 20. (AP)—Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) suggested tonight that those in command at the time be called as the first witnesses if the senate orders an independent inquiry into the Pearl Harbor attack.

Ferguson proposed such an inquiry by a five-member special senate committee in a resolution drafted for introduction tomorrow.

It calls for "a full and complete" investigation into the sneak Japanese attack.

Rear Admiral Husband E. Kimmel and Major General Walter C. Short have waived the two-year statute of limitations as a bar to possible court martial on dereliction of duty charges.

Ferguson said he would offer his resolution tomorrow along with a report from the judiciary committee approving another six months extension—from Dec. 7, of the deadline for institution of court martial proceedings.

"The lips of Admiral Kimmel and General Short have been sealed for three years because of the war," Ferguson said. "They should be allowed to tell their story and to offer supporting witnesses.

"It may be advisable to have the committee hold closed hearings until after the war is over. But these two should be given the opportunity to make the record before witnesses die or memories become dim."

Even if army and navy inquiries should be completed before Dec. 7, Ferguson said, "the way should be kept open for proceedings against others not reached by these investigations."

"It also has been pointed out that the state and other departments could not be compelled to furnish evidence to the army and navy. A senate committee could get the facts through its subpoena powers."

Alger Sheriff Dies In Hunting Accident

LOUIS PELLETIER

Munising (Special)—Louis Pelletier, 57, sheriff of Alger county, became the 16th Michigan deer hunting casualty when he was shot in the head and instantly killed by a hunting companion at about 10:30 Monday morning.

According to the story pieced together by state police, Sheriff Pelletier and J. P. Jones, of Pleasant Ridge, near Detroit, left the Pelletier camp at Island Lake south of Munising about 8 o'clock Monday morning, and entered the woods at Powells Lake intending to make a drive for the other members of their party.

As they proceeded through the woods about 75 yards apart, Pelletier forged slightly ahead of his partner and apparently became interested in watching a rabbit. Jones, who stated he believed he had seen the spike horns of a buck, raised his 30-30 rifle and quickly fired. The bullet entered the sheriff's right temple and came out through his left ear.

The two men were members of a party of nine men who have been hunting together for several years, and the tragedy took on an odd twist when it became known that Pelletier had given Jones some of his own 30-30 shells. Other men in the group, all of them from Lower Michigan, included Waldo Doetker, Ed. Grueber, Frank Doleboy, Leonard Kallassa, V. R. Richards, Paul Krause and Paul Owen.

Louis Pelletier had been sheriff of Alger county since 1932, and was reelected for his seventh term on November 7. He is survived by his widow, Argene, one daughter, Florence, Evanston, Ill., a brother, Joseph, Munising; two sisters, Mrs. Leah Welch, Munising, and Mrs. George Knapp, Detroit.

He was born September 28, 1888, at Wetmore and had been a resident of Munising most of his life. He was a member of the Knights of Columbus and the Holy Name society, and the Munising Lions club. An inquest has been ordered for nine o'clock this morning.

Other fatalities and hunting season accidents, reported by the Associated Press last night, include:

John Morgan, 40, Rosemount, Detroit, wounded in right arm while hunting in Schoolcraft craft county. He was mistaken for a bear. After treatment at Manistique he was flown to Detroit.

Ambrose Graham of Grand Marais, whom police and searching parties have sought since the opening of the season, was found dead in the woods Sunday, apparently of natural causes.

Glenn Tallio, of Route 1, Marquette, was wounded near Maple Grove. His rifle discharged when it fell from a stump.

George Franklin of Alba was killed when shot in the stomach by Benton F. Hall of Columbus, Ohio. Among the wounded were: Joseph Freel, 41, of Millsberg, hit in the stomach with buckshot, and Kenneth Ferguson, 28, of Route 3, Mio, shot in the left arm while hunting in Alcona county.

CHANGE CHINA'S CABINET POSTS

Kai-Shek Reshuffles His Military Leadership As Japs Gain

BY SPENCER MOOSA

Chungking, Nov. 20. (AP)—With China's military position becoming increasingly more critical, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek reshuffled eight cabinet posts today naming able Gen. Chen Cheng minister of war succeeding Gen. Ho Ying-Ching.

Popular clamor had urged a shakeup of the central government for some time in the face of continuing Japanese military gains in southeastern China.

(The changes followed the recent recall of Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell as American commander in China-India-Burma and the disclosure that Washington had been insisting on a reorganization of the Chiang government and a settlement of the Communist question.)

Gen. Cheng, 44, formerly was commander of the Chinese expeditionary force which now is fighting successfully in the Salween River area to open up a land route from India through Burma to China. Gen. Ho had been minister of war since 1930.

O. K. Yui, former mayor of Shanghai, was boosted from vice minister to minister of finance succeeding Dr. H. H. Kung, who now is in the United States.

Others involved in the shakeup—welcomed by all circles in Chungking with some predicting further changes—were:

Chow Chung Yao, from minister of the interior to vice president of the examination Yuan, one branch of the government; Chang Li-Sheng, from secretary-general of the executive Yuan to minister of the interior; Chu Chia-Hua, from vice president of the Examination Yuan to minister of education; Chien Li-Fu, from minister of education to minister of the Kuomingtang organization; Wang Shih-Chies, from the presidium of the Peoples Political Council to minister of information, and Liang Han-Chao, from minister of information to minister of overseas affairs.

(The retirement of Gen. Ho as minister of war, although he apparently retains his position as chief of the general staff, conceivably may remove one of the chief stumbling blocks to a political settlement of the stalemate between the central government and the Communists.

American Planes Destroy 110 Jap Planes, 3 Ships

Washington, Nov. 20. (AP)—U. S. carrier-based planes wiped out at least 110 Japanese planes and razed three enemy merchant ships in raids Saturday on Manila harbor and nearby airfields, the navy reported tonight.

Eight additional Japanese planes attacking near the U. S. carrier force, which was operating under the command of Vice Admiral J. S. McCain, were shot down.

Of the 110 planes destroyed in the Manila raid, the navy said on the basis of incomplete reports, about 100 were smashed on the ground and the others knocked down in the air.

The merchant ships "burned" in the harbor, the Pacific fleet communique said. They included two large cargo ships and a large oiler.

The communique also told of aerial strikes against Japanese bases in the Palaus, the Bonins, the Kuriles and Marianas.

Revolt In Bolivia Ends In Executions

La Paz, Bolivia, Nov. 20 (AP) — Four men were executed today in the city of Oruro for an unsuccessful attempt to overthrow the government of President Gualberto Villaroel, it was announced by the government radio.

They were identified as Colonels Eduardo Blanco and Fernando Carron and two civilians, Miguel Brito and Fernando Loyaza Beltran.

A government communique said loyal troops had entered Oruro and "received a hearty ovation from the people."

Revoke Gas Rations Of 31 Deer Hunters

Mackinaw City, Mich., Nov. 20. (AP)—Thirty-one deer hunters cited by the Office of Price Administration for violating gasoline rationing regulations have had their gasoline rations taken away by a special OPA board in session here. Suspensions ranged up to 90 days in some cases.

The OPA, which has 13 investigators checking automobiles of deer hunters to determine whether they are violating rationing rules, said that agents have checked 3,978 cars so far.

Sanity Test Asked In Kidnaping Case

Detroit, Nov. 20 (AP) — Counsel for Mrs Eleanor Smith, 33, charged with kidnaping in connection with the disappearance of four-month-old Bobby King, said today he would request a sanity commission examination for his client. Mrs. Smith stood mute when she was arraigned last week.

ENEMY LINES CRACK BEFORE SMASH DRIVE

RESISTANCE ALMOST ENDED AT METZ FORTRESS

BY AUSTIN BEALMEAR

Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force, Paris, Nov. 20 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's Allied armies pushed into both the Rhineland and the Saar basin today in sweeping advances which turned the German southern flank and cracked the enemy line from Luxembourg to Switzerland.

Virtually all organized resistance in the once-powerful citadel of Metz came to a halt.

Armored units of the First French army continued to pour through Belfort gap, striking into the city of Belfort itself and driving deeper into the flatlands along the River Rhine, where they had reached the German border last night at the end of a two-day 30-mile thrust near the Swiss frontier.

Push Past Metz

Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's U. S. Third army, which already was stabbing into Germany at several points, sent a new armored column smashing across the border east of Thionville, and at last reports it was two miles inside Germany and the same distance from the Saar river at Merzig.

The Third army surged ahead three to six miles at numerous places along its whole front, which now is seven miles beyond Metz as a result of the link-up of the two forces that swung around the city from either side.

The only resistance left inside Metz—and that was spotty—was in the extreme northern and southern tips of the city. Patton's doughboys were wiping out the last defenders in both sections.

With their southern flank unhinged from the Swiss frontier, and their Vosges mountain line threatened from the rear, the Germans were falling back everywhere before the French First army and the American Seventh and Third armies.

Resistance Tough

To the north the enemy was fighting desperately to hold the Roer river line ahead of the Allies' Aachen wedge.

The closely coordinated drive of the American First and Ninth armies and the British Second continued, with all three hammering their way deeper into the Reich, but against the toughest of the enemy's favorite defenses—highly mobile troops backed by strong fixed positions.

The First army, fighting on the right side of the Aachen wedge, slugged its way forward as much as two miles in the rain, clearing Hastenrath, northwest of Stolberg, and capturing Heistern and Wenau in a drive through the northern edge of Hurtgen forest to within six miles of Duren.

German tanks which supported a counterattack near Hastenrath were repulsed.

Retreat Before French

The Germans appeared to be pulling out of positions west of the Maas in eastern Holland, for British troops driving to within 3½ miles of Venlo found the path deserted. Venlo is the principal Maas river town blocking the way into German.

The French drive on the east end of the long front, covering 30 miles in less than 48 hours, posed another "Normandy line" decision for the Germans—retreat or be destroyed—and they appeared to be choosing retreat.

The French, fighting on the soil where they made their final stand in the black hours of defeat in 1940, had swung around Belfort on the southeast,

Four young people escaped injury but the car in which they were riding was practically demolished in an accident early Sunday morning at the corner of Twenty-third street and Lake Shore Drive.

The automobile, driven by Melvin Racicot, 17, of Schaffer, was proceeding south on Twenty-third street, when it hit the curb at Lake Shore Drive, skidded across the drive and turned over into the ditch, landing against a telephone pole.

Riding with Racicot were Francis Piln, Paul Viau and Bernice Vial, all of Schaffer. They were all taken to St. Francis hospital but were released when it was determined that injuries were limited to bruises and a shaking up.

The exact amount of banana imports in 1943 was withheld as a war secret by the U. S. government.

of tanks," DNB said. "A ferocious battle has ensued."

Massing Equipment

Germany's high command bulletin also told of the "violent" attack in which the Russians already had begun throwing in reinforcements, and said other Soviet forces had broken into German lines on the Sworbe peninsula at the southwestern end of the Estonian island of Saare (Osel), commanding the mouth of the Gulf of Riga.

The new battle overshadowed momentarily the stubborn battles around Budapest and northeast of the Hungarian capital, and both German and Polish reports indicated large-scale Russian assaults were impending in East Prussia and Poland.

The Germans said the Russians still were massing men and material behind their lines in East Prussia and in southern Poland on the road to Krakow and German Silesia, and the Polish telegraphic agency said the German expected a renewed drive against Warsaw shortly.

The Polish report, quoting the underground Warsaw radio which is again operating near the capital, said the Germans were mining factories, hospitals, filter plants and houses in the capital opposite Russian-held Praga, suburb on the east bank of the Vistula river.

Report 10 Vessels Lost To Japs In Recent Sea Actions

Washington, Nov. 20 (AP)—Loss of one destroyer, two destroyer escorts and seven lesser craft in the Pacific was announced by the Navy tonight.

Of the total of 10 vessels, the communique said seven were lost through enemy action or the perils of the sea in the Philippines area. But it was specified that they were not casualties of the big battles of October 24-25. The others went down in the New Guinea area.

Losses in Philippine waters were the destroyer Abner Read, the desiroyer escort Eversole, the mine sweeper YMS 70, Pt's 320 and 321, the fleet tug Sonoma, and the landing craft (infantry) 1065.

The other vessels were the destroyer escort Shelton and the PT's 368 and 371.

(The department previously had reported the loss of 6 ships in the Philippines battle of Oct. 24-25, including a light carrier, 2 escort carriers and a destroyer escort).

Today's announcement brings the total loss of Navy ships of all types since the beginning of the war to 228.

YOUTH HURT IN ODD ACCIDENT

Stray Bullet Shatters Gun And Splinters Enter Legs

Billy Niemchick, 17, of Wayland, Michigan, who was hunting with his father, Frank Niemchick and Harold and Charles Burpee and J. Oberley of the same place, was injured at about 11:15 Monday morning when the gun he was carrying was shattered by a stray bullet from the gun of an unidentified hunter.

Four splinters, believed to be pieces of the .22 high power rifle he was carrying, entered Niemchick's legs. The stray bullet, in addition to smashing the rifle, caused it to fire and the slug from the .22 went through the hood of the party's automobile, passed through the glove compartment, narrowly missing Harold Burpee, who already was seated behind the wheel.

The incident took place in the vicinity of Horseshoe lake as the men were approaching their car parked near the road. Niemchick was taken to the Munising hospital and later was removed to a hospital in Petoskey.

HUNTER FOUND DEAD IN WOODS

Ambrose Graham, 55, of Grand Marais, a commercial fisherman and trapper missing since the first day of deer season Nov. 15 was found dead in the woods 7 miles west of Grand Marais Sunday morning by a searching party of hunters and conservation officers. He had left his home on the opening day of hunting season and shots believed to have fired by him were heard by friends who were hunting with him. On Thursday when he failed to return his brother and friends organized a searching party and searched all week for him until Sunday when local officers were informed and they set out for him. When found he was slumped over a deer which he had started to dress out. State trooper Long and Coroner Lambert investigated, and death was believed to have been caused by a heart attack. The body was taken to Newberry for burial.

RECAPTURE INMATE

Charles Runyan, 24, who escaped from the Newberry State hospital Sunday morning November 19 was picked up Sunday evening by local police after complaints had been received from several persons who asserted they thought they believed the man was mentally deranged. When taken to the county jail he tried to set fire to the fixtures in his cell and had to be locked in the padded cell until the arrival of authorities from Newberry.

Degrees Awarded To Two State Officials

Lansong Nov. 20 (AP)—The state board of education announced today it has voted to award honorary degrees of master of arts in public administration to Auditor General Vernon J. Brown and Secretary of State Herman H. Dignan, in honor of "outstanding public service in the legislature and as administrative state officials."

Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction, said Brown's degree would be awarded November 28 at the Western Michigan College of Education, and Dignan's December 6 at the Central Michigan College of Education.

He said it was the first time a publicly supported college in Michigan has awarded an honorary degree to a Michigan public official.

Schedule Recount In Copper Country

Lansing, Nov. 20 (AP) — Myles F. Gray, clerk of the House of representatives, today outlined steps to be taken in a scheduled recount of the votes for an Upper Peninsula seat in the House.

The contest is between Rep. Harry Hermann, Laurium, Republican, and former Rep. Fred Kappler, Lake Linden Democrat, shown by the official canvass to have defeated Hermann by four votes.

Kai-Shek Strengthens His Hand, Shakes Up Cabinet

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Nov. 20 (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek has considerably strengthened his control of the Chinese government by his cabinet shake-up.

Whether he will use his stronger position to reorganize the army, seek improvement in China's economic and political affairs and try for cooperation with the Communists of North China is still a wide open question.

American officials are looking for the answer but they are not looking through rose colored glasses. There is a distinct air of skepticism about the whole affair insofar as its effect on China's war effort is concerned. Some hope is felt in official quarters that the effect will be good, but fingers are crossed.

The impression here is that Chiang reorganized because of the internal crisis, which was intensified by the Stilwell affair. American General Joseph W. Stilwell, who came home at President Roosevelt's orders in response to a personal request from Chiang, was well liked by his men and by many of the officers who had worked with him.

They credited him with having accomplished a great deal for China. The break resulted basically from a long series of differences between Stillwell and Chiang over strategy and troop asisgnments—conflicts in which the Chinese war minister, General Ho Ying-Chin, is understood to have been a powerful influence against the vigorous conduct of the war which Stillwell sought.

Three of today's changes in Chiang's cabinet drew particular comment here.

1. Possibly the most important was the replacement of General Ho by General Chen Cheng. Chen is well liked by Americans who have fought in China, and is understood to have had the respect and friendship of General Stilwell himself.

On the other hand his position as minister of war is balanced somewhat by the fact that Ho remains as chief of staff to the generalissimo.

2. The removal of H. H. Kung as minister of Finance and his replacement by O. K. Yui. Kung, like Ho, does not vanish from the administration but merely from the post in which he has gotten the blame for much of China's terrible inflation and economic crisis. He retains the vice-presidency of the executive Yuan, topmost administrative council, of which Chiang is president.

Yui is not a financial expert but is recognized as a goood administrator and a long time government official who has had close personal association with Chiang. The result of this change, therefore, probably will be further to centralize power in Chiang.

3. The transfer of Wang Shih-chieh from the presidium of the people's political council to the ministry of information has raised pointed speculatioon about its meaning in relation to the Communist problem. Wang has negotiated with the Communists for a long period to see under what circumstances collaboration between that powerfully armed northern group and the central government might be arranged in order to reinforce the fight against Japan. The fact that Wang now moves into the government seems to imply a friendlier attitude toward the Communists on the part of Chiang Kai-shek.

$51,677 SPENT BY DEMOCRATS

Michigan Campaign Cost Report Lists $9,500 From Unions

Lansing, Nov. 20. (AP)—The Democratic state central committee reported today its 1944 election campaign contributions totaled $50,073.32, and its expenditures $51,677.54.

The report, prepared for filing with the Wayne county clerk listed contributions approximating $9,500 from labor unions, but none from the Political Action committee (CIO), which the headquarters here said it "presumed" would file a separate expense accounting.

Its biggest individual source of income, the committee reported, was $10,000 from the Democratic national committee. Next high was a $5,000 contribution listed from the "CIO Agricultural Implement Workers" Union. Other listed contributions were $1,500 each by the Teamsters Locals No. 337 and 299; $500 each from the Bakery Salesmen, Drivers, Warehousemen and Helpers Union Local No. 51 and the Laundry Workers International Union, and $425.15 from the Laundry and Linen Drivers for Roosevelt club.

John Gillespie, former Detroit police commissioner once active in Republican politics, was listed as the donor of $1,000.

Other reported contributions were credited in the report as follows:

E. Cyril Bevan, Democratic national committeeman, $2,000; Walter C. Averill Jr., Democratic state chairman, and Walter C. Averill Sr., $500; Edmund C. Shields, former Democratic national committeeman, and Byron L. Ballard, former legal adviser in the administration of Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner, $350 each; Charles S. Porritt, former Democratic state chairman, $500; former U. S. Senator Prentiss M. Brown, $475; Louis Luckoff, Detroit advertising firm executive, $500.

The report is exclusive of campaign contributions and expenditures made to and by Edward J. Fry, the Democratic nominee for governor.

Averill said the central committee had sufficient cash on hand from other sources to retire the campaign deficit and that no unpaid bills remained.

Old Lake Vessels Offered For Sale

ENEMY LINES CRACK BEFORE SMASH DRIVE

Meanwhile, French Zouaves from Africa fought into Belfort after overcoming German resistance at Fort Le Sultert and the fortified village of Essert, on the city's western approaches.

The full-force onslaught to the north by the U. S. Seventh army and other French forces were cracking German defenses, and only smouldering St. Die, 5 miles north of Belfort, remained to the Germans of what once was the strong Meurthe river line in the Vosges.

COAST GUARD'S LEASE EXPIRES

Vacate Terrace Gardens; Reservists Will Be Given Citations

Coast guardsmen who have been living in barracks at Terrace Gardens have vacated the property with the expiration of the lease yesterday, it has been announced. Approximately ten coast guardsmen are still assigned to the Escanaba COTP detail and are living in private rooms in Escanaba. They are in charge of Chief Boatswain's Mate Joseph Terzi.

Temporary members of the U. S. Coast Guard Reserve are continuing on an unassigned staus but an announcement of a decision regarding the future activities of the Escanaba and Gladstone flotillas is expected shortly after Dec. 1.

All reservists who have been credited with 600 or more hours active duty will receive citations and an identification bracelet at a joint meeting of the Escanaba and Gladstone flotillas to be held next month, probably Dec. 17, 18 or 19.

Lt. C. A. Heintz, U. S. C. G. officer, who is director of auxiliary services of the Ninth Naval District, Cleveland, is expected to be present at the presentations, along with Lt. Comdr. H. E. Elliott, commanding officer of the Lake Michigan area USCGR (T), and Lt. Comdr. Ralph Green, commodore of the Lake Michigan area, U. S. C. G. Auxiliary.

The entire personnel of the Escanaba and Gladstone flotillas will attend the presentations. Active duty hours were contributed by the reservists at the COTR headquarters, Escanaba ore docks, under the direction of Lt. (jg) John Stewart, who was transferred to Baltimore recently.

Coast Guard Makes History Under 'Idea Man' Waesche

BY NEA SERVICE

From a huge room on the seventh floor of a drab building on Pennsylvania Avenue, Vice Admiral Russell Randolph Waesche directs the Coast Guard with a quiet and precise vigor and an unrestrained disdain for formalism and regulation. Recently reappointed Commandant for a third four year term, he is the most unbrassy of the adorned hats, and an amiable and energetic gentleman with an abundance of ideas and a rare knack for implementing them.

Associates like to relate the story of an officer who asked to make a speech about the Commandant. He prepared the address submitted it to the Admiral's aide for approval. It came back emasculated. "It's a great picture of the old man," said the aide, "but good Lord, man, we can't let people know how he has busted rules and traditions."

"The aide was right," admits the officer, "but the Admiral's busting of tradition is exactly what has made him the greatest idea man in Coast Guard history."

Waesche's Coast Guard—smallest, least known, inferentially a coastal defense unit—is an unusual military conglommerate. Under his leadership it has mushroomed 15 times in personnel to 175,000 officers and men, and assumed the functions of two other services—the Lighthouse Service and the Bureau of Marine Inspection. Waesche believes the service is the proper agency to handle maritime matters which were formerly interspersed among other government agencies.

Born in Thurmont, Md., (population 1200) he was 15 when he got out of high school and went to work in a Pittsburgh steel mill, 10 hours a day seven days a week at 17 cents an hour. His father was a mining engineer, his brother taught civil engineering at Purdue University and at the age of 17, Russ Waesche enrolled at that university to study electrical engineering.

After his freshman year, his brother thought a little military training would help the young student. So Russell Waesche took the Coast Guard Academy examinations, passed them and became a cadet. "When I woke up I found I liked the service too much and was too old to get back to electrical engineering," he says.

Starts School

Waesche was given the usual Coast Guard itinary—Great Lakes, Arctic and Alaskan waters, Pacific, chasing "rummies" and smugglers, destroyers—until as a young lieutenant just before World War I, he was assigned to Headquarters.

He developed a complete plan for a communications system involving 2500 miles of lines, and had it installed in a few months. Waesche worked out a promotion plan for officers based on merit, not stodgy seniority.

He proposed a correspondence school for warrant officers and enlisted men to improve them in their jobs. Seamanship by mail was unheard of but Waesche put it across and built up the now flourishing Coast Guard Institute. Jumped from commander to Rear Admiral and Commandant, Russell Waesche continued to cut corners, lop off loose edges. Thirty-nine administrative areas were pruned to 13, each under a district commander answerable only to headquarters.

Fifty-eight year old Waesche, as trim as his cutters and just as salty, lives in Chevy Chase, Md., is manifestly proud of his service and its record on the beachheads of the world. He chafes at his battle station at the desk, and has twice scurried away for inspection tours of the Pacific and European theaters. Of his three sons, two are in the Coast Guard—one a cutter skipper—and the third is an Army Air Force officer.

Grandma Switches Millions of Mothers To Her Idea of Mutton Suet and Medication

"Old Reliable" For Relieving Chest Colds' Muscle Tightness—Coughing, Neuralgic and Rheumatic Pain, Chapped Lips and Nostrils, Simple Bruises and Sprains and Many Other Home Uses.

Grandma was a great one for "rubbing" the miseries of chest colds and many other simple pains and aches of her family. The rub she used was medicated in her own way but she insisted that it contain mutton suet. She liked the way mutton suet disappeared as it helped carry medication to nerve ends in the skin to relieve pain.

Today science has modernized Grandma's old-time pain relief principle to bring you Penetro, the salve with a base that contains old fashioned mutton suet plus 5 active ingredients. Now mothers everywhere are praising this newer relief and thanking Grandma for her idea that is switching habits of long standing. During this season of colds, Penetro is so helpful in easing chest muscle tightness, soothing chest rawness, loosening phlegm and relieving coughs. Rubbed on chest, throat, back it melts instantly, quickly vanishes to act 3 ways—(1) To relieve pain at nerve ends in skin. (2) To ease chest muscle tightness by counter-irritation. (3) To soothe irritated breath passages through inhaled aromatic vapors.

Many households call Penetro a real friend in so many other ways, too—as it eases neuralgic and rheumatic pain, takes sting from chapped lips and nostrils, acts as soothing dressing for bruises, minor cuts. No wonder mothers today are praising Penetro and druggists everywhere are recommending it. So clean, so white, so easy-to-use and such a comfort-bringer for so many simple every day home needs. Do as millions are doing—today get your jar of economical Penetro.

With The Deer Hunters . . .

Among the successful hunters is Al Nelson, 816 South 16th street, who killed a 120 pound buck near Bonamer's Camp, Round Lake, on the opening day of the season. After felling the deer, Nelson walked over to the animal and was surprised when the deer jumped up and knocked Nelson down. The deer was mortally wounded, however, and Nelson administered the coup de grace.

Louis Auger, 1524 Ninth avenue south, filled his license yesterday morning at 8:30 o'clock, his first deer kill in three years hunting. Auger killed the 130 pound buck north of LaBranche. It is an eight pointer.

Frank Velkavrh, Wm. Dietching and Howard Reed of Chicago are deer hunting guests of Wm. Casey at his camp above Northland.

Mel Trams, hunting in the Hiawatha forest, downed his buck on Friday at about 4 p. m. A ten pointer, the animal weighed about 140 pounds. Not relishing the task of dragging out a deer too well, Trams picked his spot so well that he had to drag the buck only 85 paces out to a road, that distance was also the length of the shot that brought it down.

* * *

Joe Hurckman returned on Sunday from a hunting trip to Northland with a 125 pound prong horn buck.

* * *

Herb Holderman joins the successful hunters with a 6 point buck killed at 10:30 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

* * *

Rayne Labre brought his buck down from camp Sunday. It was a 10 pointer weighing 200 pounds that he shot at 9:45 on Wednesday morning. Hunting from the same camp south of Faunus Harold Hirn shot a 175 pound buck at 10 a. m. on Wednesday.

* * *

Joining the list of successful hunters in the Round Lake area are Joe LaMire, who shot a big buck that must have weighed about 200 pounds at 8:30 on the opening morning; Gust Gustafson, who killed his buck at 8 a. m. Wednesday; and Carl Harbath, who brought down his buck on Wednesday afternoon.

Birthday Party

Miss Molly McNally was honored Tuesday night at a surprise party by local grangers at their hall at Kate's Bay to celebrate her 24th birthday. A large cake was the central attraction of the lunch served after guests had enjoyed games and dancing. Silver and gifts were presented to Miss McNally.

Percy Plante, seventeen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Plante, left Thursday night from Cooks on his way to the Great Lakes Naval Training Station.

Mrs. Alfred LaVallee took her daughters, Mary Fay and Ann, to an Escanaba dentist Friday for treatment. Mrs. William Swear and Mrs. Edward Bureau accompanied.

Harvey Ward of Milwaukee came Wednesday for hunting at the Boudreau camp.

Where Is Hitler?

STORIES coming out of Europe report: 1. Hitler is dead. 2. Hitler is alive but crazy. 3. Hitler is in good health and still the master mind of the German war effort. 4. Hitler is alive but is being held a virtual prisoner by Heinrich Himmler, head of the Gestapo.

Some of these stories, perhaps all of them, are undoubtedly the production of the German propaganda bureau, designed to spread confusion among the Allied Nations. The one undisputable fact is that the Nazis are still firmly in control of Germany, with or without Hitler, as the leader of the state.

Whether it is Hitler, or Himmler, or Goebbels, or Goering who is the present leader of the German war program, what difference does it make? All are ruthless Nazi war criminals, tarred with the same brush. As long as any of these Nazis can hold control of the German government, the Germans will be forced to fight with the fanatical disregard for human life that characterized their defense at Aachen.

The Allies cannot divert even as much as a single tank or gun from the western front, or slow up production on the home front by any extent whatsoever to indulge in the costly luxury of speculation concerning the present physical condition of Adolf Hitler.

The current massed offensive of the Allies soon will carry them to the west banks of the Rhine river. Then will come the crossing of the Rhine itself. And finally will come the drive towards Berlin and the last phase of the battle of Germany. Then and only then can we afford to divert any attention from our war effort, to speculate concerning the physical condition and the whereabouts of Hitler and the other Nazi war criminals.

A Deserved Compliment

RESOLUTIONS adopted by the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce last week, paying glowing tribute to the contribution made by Dr. C. A. Lund to the moral life of this community, is a deserved compliment to one who for more than a quarter of a century has staunchly stood for a cleaner and a better Escanaba. It can be truly said, that in the 28 years of his pastorate here, Dr. Lund has never compromised his position toward those things he believed to be wrong in this community. He fought to the last ditch for those principles of manhood and citizenship he believed to be right. But his was not merely an affirmative policy—he condemned to the full extent of his power any force of evil that threatened the moral life of Escanaba and he usually won his battles.

Throughout the life of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce his interest in the work of that organization has served as an inspiration to the succession of officers directing its efforts, to build a bigger and a better Escanaba.

Dr. Lund is retiring from his pastorate here after 28 years of faithful service and leadership, not only to members of his own congregation but to the people of Escanaba at large.

He leaves an indelible mark upon this community. Escanaba is today a better and a cleaner city, due, in a great measure, to the influence and the example of Dr. Lund.

Hysteria Doesn't Work

IT'S QUITE an experience to spend two nights lost in the woods, particularly in an area described by conservation officers as the "the worst place to be lost in the United States."

John Hubert, of Chicago, had that experience last week in the dense swamp near LaBranche. The fact that he came out of the woods, after the second day, in good physical condition is a tribute in itself to the ability of the average American, as represented by Mr. Hubert, to take care of himself in emergencies. It is an American trait that has been repeated thousands of times in the present war on battlefields all over the world.

The woods-wise deer hunter knows that he must be warmly dressed, should carry an adequate supply of matches and that he must keep them dry. Most important, he knows that should be get lost he must remain calm and conserve his strength. Wandering aimlessly around the woods serves only to create exhaustion, adds to the pangs of hunger and increases mental weariness. The lost hunter with a cool mind will always come out alive and well.

Too Much Complacency

EARLY in the present war there was a constantly expressed fear at Washington that there was too much complacency among the mass of people in the nation. There existed a very acute fear that the bulk of the people did not appreciate the real meaning of war and its consequences and there was the added concern as to how the nation, as a whole, would accept military losses.

Subsequent events that followed in the dark days before America was able to exert her full power, proved those early Washington fears to be groundless. There was no evidence of complacency in those days—instead the American people accepted the sacrifices imposed upon them and tightened their belts and lent every possible aid to our national war effort.

But military successes in more recent months have served to change the picture. There is danger of too much complacency today—too many people, in their own minds, are fixing the day when at least the European war will be brought to a victorious conclusion.

It has been necessary for the highest military and governmental authorities to plead for the production of more and more war materials, that actual war experience has proven to be necessary to win the war in either Europe or the Pacific.

Washington's fears of months ago were proven groundless, but those fears are very real and soundly grounded today—there is too much complacency in America today.

Streamlining the WLB

PENDING resignations of WLB Chairman William H. Davis, vice chairman Dr. George W. Taylor, and a third public member, Dr. Frank P. Graham, may lead to a long-needed readjustment of the WLB. The Board has generally functioned as well as possible, but its public-labor-management setup has made effective and efficient work difficult.

The very presence of management and labor representatives on an impartial mediation board has always cast a shadow on the public members' integrity. And the WLB has consequently functioned as one would expect, with questions involving policy being decided almost always on a policy basis by the special representatives.

If appeals are to be decided on merit, there is no need for men from business and industry on the one hand and men from two rival union groups on the other to look after "interests." It is time the WLB were reorganized on a purely "public" basis.

THE 12th DISTRICT

(Iron Mountain News)

Records for voting in the 12th Congressional district for the past four years indicate that Frank Hook can carry it when Roosevelt runs for president and that Congressman Bennett can carry it in the off years. It is, as we commented before the election, as congressional districts go, a tight fit between the parties.

In 1940, with Roosevelt a candidate, Hook carried it by 2,796 majority against Bennett. Two years later, in an off year election, Bennett defeated Hook by 3,760. While the official canvass of the vote in the district still has to be accounted for, Hook apparently carried it this year by some 1,000 majority. An unofficial tabulation of the vote in the counties of the district shows that Roosevelt majority in them was approximately 6,000.

Hook, it appears, got only about a sixth of the majority secured by Roosevelt. This spells out to mean that Hook had a good ride on Roosevelt's coat tails, and that Bennett, considering Roosevelt's strength in the district, made an excellent run. It also shows that the outcome in the district two years hence will be debatable.

Hitler's V-2 makes a lot of noise but it's certain to be drowned out by our V.

PULPWOOD NEEDED

(Milwaukee Journal)

W. P. McGuire, editor of the Petersburg Southside Virginia News, urgently tells his readers to produce all the pulpwood they can for war purposes; also, to prevent forest fires.

Obviously, there is a tremendous military demand for paper and it must be met. To meet it, much pulpwood must be cut so the paper mills can operate effectively. And, to meet it, the American forests must give up whatever of their "surplus" growth, or remaining young stock, or anything else, may be required.

Wisconsin of course should do its share to keep the mills running in order to supply the plants that make ammunition cases, shipping boxes and anything else required by the boys overseas.

But as the state does this it also should remember "forest management." It does little for the war effort heedlessly to slash—let alone just crush—two or three inch saplings that now will not produce enough pulp to wad a gun.

And America will pay a heavy future price if, in meeting the necessary war need, it wastefully destroys or delays the crop that urgently will be needed by the next and succeeding generations.

That is why such endeavors as that of Trees for Tomorrow warrant encouragement, insofar as they are designed soundly to restore the forests as well as encourage the harvesting of them right now.

Trees for Tomorrow, sponsored by the Wisconsin paper mills, is fostering replanting as well as cutting.

That forest fires must be prevented or controlled—and by use of the most modern equipment that may become available from time to time—goes without saying. That a pulpwood crop is needed right now is clear. But that the future of many industries, some communities, and perhaps thousands of men who work in the woods is involved in a restoration program must not be lost sight of.

World Events Analyzed

BY LESLIE BAIN

Naples, Italy.—When the damage this war has brought on Italy is repaired, all physical traces of it obliterated and buildings, bridges and railroads are rebuilt, food again will be plentiful but there still will remain the moral deterioration of a large part of the people to plague Italians for decades to come. There can be no doubt about it, many Italians are so deeply sunk in moral stupor that nothing, not even the future of their children, makes any impression on them.

There are, of course, thoughtful Italians desperately fighting an up-hill battle to rouse their people, but they themselves admit that it will be many years before social consciousness will return to Italy. Also, many insist that this condition is peculiar only to southern Italy, that further north the situation is much better. Naturally there must be a silver lining to this desperately dark picture but there are few bright rays visible in Naples and the surrounding area.

—LOST SENSE OF RIGHT—

No family, clan, tribe or nation can live and grow without faith and loyalty. And the Italians have lost both; their faith in themselves and their future, and whatever loyalty they had toward their institutions. Such devastation could not have happened overnight. It took twenty years of fascism and four years of war to land the Italians in the morass they are now in. Slow, steady pounding did it. Mussolini with his queer moral values did the spade work. Under him the italians were taught to exalt deceit and worship force. Then came several wars—Ethiopia, Spain and finally World War II. Each contributed its share to the process of disintegration.

The ugly truth is that many—all too many— Italians hereabouts have lost their conception of right and wrong and their sense of duty. They say what you want them to say, they hire out for almost anything, willing to trade body and soul for a pittance; the only vital thing left in them is the instinct of self-preservation, the atavistic urge for survival. Even children are contaminated. They run after you on the streets soliciting for their sisters and mothers. That's how bad it is.

Historically the case of the Italians in the south is clear: having lost those certain moral values on which our civilization is built, they have none with which to replace them. Hence they are drifting in a vacuum. The church, unfortunately, lost much of its influence through her association with fascism and it will be some time before her tattered prestige can be restored. There are many political parties. I should say, too many. But none has a clear-cut program, one that would inspire loyalty and kindle a new faith.

—TOO MUCH SELFISHNESS—

The fairly well-fed of the middle and upper classes have retained some of their former values. Were it not for their association with the fascists and the Germans and the wide schism which separates them from the poorer people, they might well serve as focal point for the forces of reconstruction. The trouble is, as I see it, that they are still doing business at the old stand. They are more interested in their own welfare than in the future of their country. Their lack of moral indignation toward those who betrayed Italy and pushed her down the abyss, and their lack of sincere patriotism are the two main obstacles in the way. These will be hard to overcome.

All this disintegration is grist for the communist mill. Their strength is rising and curiously not because they are wanted, but because no one else is offering the Italians anything definite. It is Russia of 1917 all over again for by now it must be clear even to the most non-political-minded that not Lenin and his handful of followers created Soviet Russia; it emerged from the inability of the other parties to agree on a program. At the moment only one party has any standing here in Italy—the one which promises to uproot all the evils of the past. And, except for the communists, the Italian political parties are merely paying lip-service to such a radical program. If the communists win in Italy, they will certainly win by default.

I spoke to several intellectual leaders of Naples—all staunch liberals—who insisted that a liberal, progressive democracy may yet evolve out of the present chaos. They base their hope on Allied help and the new democratic order which the United Nations are committed to create. These were the only optimists among the Italians I met in Naples.

Gracie Allen Says.

Well, here we are in New York and, my goodness, what a time we had getting hotel accommodations. Why, it's worse than Washington. But George and I finally got a cozy single room with hot-and-cold-running strangers.

The line-up of people waiting to brush their teeth in our room alone reads like a "who's who." We haven't had time to unpack as we've been introducing ourselves all morning.

Come to think of it I haven't seen George in some time, but I know he's here in the room. We promised to meet over near the bridge lamp at five o'clock for coffee.

George was upset about all this and asked to see the manager. But it turned out the manager was in Albany. He lives there. It's the only place he could find a room.

All furloughs of the Fuehrer's Guards have been canceled. They need someone to look for Hitler.

ON BEING LOST—Most hunters, and occasionally small game and bird hunters, at some time find themselves in that embarrassing and sometimes fatal condition described as being lost in woods.

Dunathan

Some hunters become lost easily while others seem to have a directional sixth sense that leads them unerringly out to where they want to go. As a matter of fact, there is no such thing as "being lost". No reasonably intelligent adult need fear losing his direction in the woods so long as he refuses to become panic stricken.

It is like the well-worn story of the Indian who, on coming back to his wigwam several days late, stated with enormous dignity: "Me not lost, wigwam he lost."

A little of the same psychology applied to himself by the white hunter does a world of good. You are not lost—but your camp is lost. So it is up to you to let your lost camp find you. This can be accomplished by exercising patience, keeping as warm and comfortable as possible, and giving your hunting companions time to locate you.

* * *

BUILD A FIRE—As soon as a person has the first realization that he may have become turned around and is unable immediately to say which direction is which, he had best start building a fire. This not only gives his hands something to do, but rewards him with welcome warmth and a chance to sit down and calmly consider what to do next.

If it is late afternoon or evening, the hunter should make preparations to spend the night where he is. After his fire is built he should gather as much fuel as possible so that he may keep his fire going throughout the night.

It is wise also to build a lean-to shelter near the fire. This can be made by fashioning a sloping framework of poles, and covering this with evergreen boughs or birch bark. Of course it will be presumed that the hunter has at least a large knife and a box of matches in a water-tight container on his person. If he hasn't he should never have left camp in the first place.

* * *

STATE OF MIND—By retaining his composure and refusing to consider that his case may be hopeless, the person lost in the woods has won the initial battle against his own inclination to become panic stricken.

How calmness wins the battle against nature was illustrated a few years ago when a Detroit woman became lost in the vast Tahquamenon swamp while hunting with her husband. The two became separated and, although it was the woman's first hunting trip she reacted like a veteran.

Moving only a few hundred feet to higher ground she built a fire and a leanto and there spent the first night. She knew that it would take perhaps a day or more for her husband to return to Sault Ste. Marie and for a searching party to be organized. The second night passed, and the third day was beginning to draw to a close when she heard, faintly, the sound of gunshots. She fired her rifle in reply.

Soon she was found by the searchers—who sat down around her comfortable fire while she ate the sandwiches and coffee they had brought her. She walked the many miles back to the road without assistance because she had conserved her strength.

* * *

THE OPPOSITE—Conservation Officer Jack Vizena of Munising, 75 years old and still going strong as state land appraiser, describes the opposite state of mind.

Some years back a Chicago man got off the train in Alger county and started to walk a few miles to his hunting camp. It began to snow. He never reached the camp.

Searching parties found him the following day—dead. One of his shoes was gone, and one of his eyes had been gouged out.

Becoming panic-stricken at losing the trail he had started to run. In a burned-over area, where blackened stubs raised skeleton fingers out of the white plain, he had during the night run blindly into one of sharp branches with his face—and died the victim of his own fright.

* * *

BE PREPARED — That's the motto of the Boy Scouts of America, and it's also a good one for the hunter to follow unless he is thoroughly familiar with the area in which he proposes to hunt. And thorough familiarity means years of residence and intimate acquaintanceship with the topography of the area.

To be prepared, the hunter who is unfamiliar with the area should first of all supply himself with a fairly detailed map of the district —and a compass.

It is downright amazing how many hunters from the city will amble gaily off into the woods equipped with only a rifle and an urge to pull the trigger. They have, at best, only a hazy conception of where the principal roads and trails are located in the area, which way the principal rivers run, or where the nearest settlements are.

So when they become lost they have the feeling of being surrounded in a vacuum of utter wilderness. They may be only a short distance from a principal highway but they are so unfamiliar with their surroundings that even a compass would help them little. For anyone who enters the woods, the Scout motto is a good one to follow.

INTO THE PAST

10 Years Ago—1934

Cornell, Bark River and Escanaba townships are to have new town halls if present plans of relief authorities in the county materialize. At a recent meeting of the Delta county welfare commission approval of the plans submitted was given. The halls at Bark River and Cornell will be approximately 80 feet long and 45 feet wide and the Escanaba township hall will be 70 feet by 40 feet.

Gladstone—Only a little more than a month remains for veterans of the World war to file for adjusted service certificates, it was announced yesterday by H. J. Skogquist, welfare officer of August Mattson post.

Joseph H. Slater has been appointed chairman of a special committee of the Chamber of Commerce to raise funds to secure new uniforms for the Escanaba high school band, Secretary Harold P. Lindsay announced yesterday.

20 Years Ago—1924

The city council last night put its stamp of approval on a proposition leasing to the Board of Education as much of the land owned by the city opposite the city dumping grounds as will be necessary for the establishment of a suitable athletic field. It is thought this will consist of about 10 acres.

25 Years Ago—1919

Washington—Failing after three attempts to ratify the peace treaty, the senate late tonight laid it aside, adjourned the special session and went home. All compromise efforts to bring ratification failed, the three resolutions all going down by overwhelming majorities.

Womans clubs no longer are organizations for the study of books and the leadership of social functions, Mrs. Rena Hamilton, Battle Creek, president of the Michigan Federation, told nearly 100 members of the Escanaba Woman's club today.

The Lyons Den

By Leonard Lyons

BEATRICE LILLIE is puzzled by Noel Coward's strange reaction to the bravery of Brooklyn's soldiers, in his "Middle East Diary." Coward is one of her best friends, and Miss Lillie, who has been entertaining on the war fronts for over five years, hopes that it's all a typographical error. In fact, on the boat which brought her back to America last month, she entertained a large number of wounded Brooklyn soldiers. One of them, with his back in a cast, was assured by her: "You're going to be all right." "Do you think I'll be able to jitterbug when I get out of this cast?" he asked her. "Of course you'll be able to jitterbug," Miss Lillie told him. "That's funny," the Brooklyn soldier replied. "I never could before."

COL. ROBERT SCOTT, author of "God Is My Co-Pilot," made a suggestion to Robert Buckner, who is producing the movie adaptation. "In China," said Col. Scott, "we had a flier who owned a pet monkey. Whenever he went on a mission, the monkey went along, perched on the pilot's shoulder. We ought to use this touch in the movie." It's a good touch, and ordinarily we'd use it," Buckner answered. "But not in a picture with this title."

GROUCHO MARX went to a ball game with songwriter Harry Ruby and screenwriter Harry Kurnitz. Groucho discussed with them a plan he had for their purchase of the Phillies ball club. He had all the details written down, and presented the project to them. "We three can buy the Phillies," he insisted, but his companions weren't interested, and Ruby said: "G'wan, you're crazy." "Crazy?" said Groucho. "Crazy? That's what they said about Harry K. Thaw."

BRIG. GEN. CARLOS P. ROMULO, who returned to his Philippine homeland with Gen. MacArthur, was wounded by a bomb fragment which went through his jaw. He now is fully recovered. Eddie Bracken, who made the rash statement that he probably was jeopardizing his movie career by campaigning for Tom Dewey, will play "Irvin," the leading role in the Warner Bros. version of "Three Men on a Horse." Bracken will be working for Jack Warner, the man who headed the Hollywood-for-Roosevelt Committee. Mike Romanoff and Dave Chasen, the rival Hollywood restaurateurs, settled their long feud by jointly bringing a prized New York baker to Hollywood, and now they share his entire output.

FERENC MOLNAR tells the story of two bearded scholars riding in a wagon along a road in Hungary. "God is great, and infinite is His wisdom," said the first. "True, true," agreed the second. "But sometimes He misses a little. For example, your beard is red and mine is dark. Why couldn't He make all men's beards green. Green is a lovely color. Green like the lush fields, green like the forest—yes, He should've made all men's beards green. And look at this horse I'm driving. The head is too far from the wagon, and I have to use the reins. He should've made the horse's head nearer to us." "If our beards were green and the horse's head were nearer to us, the horse would eat our beards," said the first scholar. "So you see, God is great and infinite is His wisdom."

MICHA ELMAN told the Russian pianist, Alexander Uninsky, about his plan to tour Europe as quickly as possible in a series of concerts for the relief of civilian populations. Uninsky listened to the violinist's plan and asked the Russianborn Elman: "In which country are you especially looking forward to play?" "France," said Elman. "France is the only country in Europe where I have no enemies. That's because I don't speak French."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

(Lt. Col. Robert S. Allen now on active service with the Army)

Washington— Allied Intelligence has done its best to solve the mystery of what has happened to Hitler, but his fate and whereabouts remain one of the most carefully kept secrets of the Reich.

Pearson

Here are the only reliable facts that have been pieced together. It has been established that Hitler did go to Vienna for a throat operation about two months ago. He suffers from a chronic throat ailment, somewhat like Secretary Hull's and he has had several of these operations.

Prior to this Vienna operation, it was known that Hitler had become more domineering, more unbalanced, more inclined to shout down anyone who tried to talk to him. He was always inclined to be this way, but word leaking out to neutral countries is that he was much more so this past summer.

The supposition is, therefore, that Hitler has been quietly put away by Himmler and the party leaders, probably confined to a sanitarium.

It has been noticeable to Allied military men for some time that Hitler was not at the helm. German military operations have been too well directed. There have been no eccentric moves such as when Hitler was muddling up the command.

It is not believed that Hitler was seriously injured by last July's attempted assassination. The hand grenade which exploded was in a briefcase in the middle of the room, while Hitler was at one side. Only a splinter of shrapnel is reported to have entered his hand.

As far as more skillful military operations are concerned, Hitler's absence will help the Nazis. Otherwise, it will be a more serious blow to Germany than most people here realize, for the lower ranks of the German Army worshipped Hitler. Prisoners interviewed after capture have indicated that they were fighting for Hitler, not so much for Germany.

FDR AS COMMANDER IN CHIEF

One of the most controversial issues during the late lamented campaign was whether F. D. Roosevelt really exercised much influence as Commander in Chief, or whether the war was run solely by the military. An interesting letter in this connection, in which Roosevelt in effect overruled the military regarding food supplies in Italy, has just leaked out.

His letter, dated Oct. 31, 1944—the very climax of the campaign—was addressed to Secretary of War Stimson, and read:

"I have had before me the shipping difficulties in getting supplies to the civilian population of Italy and I note that we have been building up some reserves for use when Northern Italy collapses.

"In the meantime, it seems to me that the situation is so acute, from the point of view particularly of food in Southern Italy, that some risks must be taken regarding supplies at the time of the collapse in Northern Italy. That collapse may well not come until Germany itself collapses, in which case the shipping situation will be much less acute.

"Under the circumstances, I have determined to assume the responsibility for asking General Wilson to increase the ration to 300 grams throughout all of Italy that our forces occupy."

CAPITAL CHAFF

Commuters between Washington and Baltimore the other day may have wondered why their train stopped just west of Laurel until two other trains whizzed past. Reason: The safety of the President—Railroads stop all trains traveling in the opposite direction from the President's Special until he has passed. A two-car pilot train also goes just ahead of the President's Special to crash any explosives which may have been planted on the tracks— Congressman-elect Bill Gallagher one-time Minneapolis street cleaner, is being advised that he may find the implements of his former profession useful, at times, in the halls of Congress—After Texas' unpopular Senator "Pappy" O'Daniel was drowned out with boos at Houston so that he couldn't speak, extreme precautions were taken at Dallas. Admission to the first dozen rows of the auditorium was by invitation only—The tremendous advertising space used by Senator Nye in the North Dakota newspapers during his campaign indicates how decisively North Dakotans feel about isolation. Plenty of money came in from outsiders to help re-elect Nye, but money couldn't do it.

OVERSEAS MERRY-GO-ROUND

Britons are now organizing "Fan Clubs". Bing Crosby, Glenn Miller and Dinah Shore clubs are sprouting all over England —The presence of American troops has brought a Western-story boom to England. "Daniel Boone" is now a big seller—Americans can expect some new slang expressions when the boys come home. One new one is, "Now he's scrubbed," which means "He's all washed up!"—One explanation for Governor Dewey's low soldier vote was Senator Bob Taft's ridiculous ban on political propaganda to soldiers. The bill provided for equal publicity for both candidates, which gave a big break to Roosevelt. Many G. I. Joe's had never heard of Dewey, couldn't find out much about him from the skimpy news the Army was permitted to send out under Taft's soldier-vote bill—All knew about Roosevelt, had been hearing about him for years.

The will of an Illinois man left $5000 to his stenographer. That's a lot of gum not to be able to buy.

When the Yanks reach Hamburg they'll have real reason to celebrate. Hamburg on a bun!

INFLATION IS FORUM TOPIC

OPAdministrator To Be Principal Speaker Tonight

Circumstances and conditions which tend to bring on inflation will be discussed at the regular November meeting of the Escanaba Citizens Forum tonight in the council chambers of the city hall.

The subject, "The Threat of Inflation," will be outlined by Birkett L. Williams, Cleveland, administrator of OPA Region III. Charles Gessner will act as moderator. Following Mr. Williams' discussion of the subject the meeting will be thrown open for questions and comments.

Forum officials again emphasized Monday that the meetings are entirely non-partisan and non-political, and are open to all citizens who wish to attend. Tonight's discussion is on a subject serious enough to claim the attention of many of the country's best economists, it was said, and deals with a matter of vital importance to every individual.

The principal speaker at Tonight's forum has been head of OPA Region III since the inception of the rationing program, having been selected for that post by Leon Henderson. His area includes five midwestern states, Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky, Indiana and Michigan.

Mr. Williams, in addition to his regular work, has served as president of the Cleveland Automotive Trades association, president of the Cleveland Rotary club, director of the National Automotive Dealers association and director and member of the finance and executive committees of the associative charities of his city.

He is said to be a fluent, forceful speaker, and having grown up with the OPA is thoroughly conversant with all its problems.

Marquette—Ed. J. McCarthy, 76 oldest printer in Marquette and a resident of this city 74 years, died at 3:15 Wednesday afternoon in the Brunswick hotel, where he had lived several years. He had been in poor health for some time, but his death caused by a heart attack, was unexpected.

Mr. McCarthy came to Marquette from Ireland with his parents, the late William and Ella McCarthy, when he was two years old. He learned the printing trade when he was a youth and was employed in that business continually. He worked in the Mining Journay job printing shop for more than 40 years and for the last 16 years was employed by the Guelff Printing company.

RUBBER PUZZLE SEEN AFTER WAR

Over 700 Million Now Invested In Plants For Synthetics

BY SIGRID ARNE

Washington, (AP)—Just us garden-variety American tax-payers put out $700,000,000 the past three years to set up a synthetic rubber industry.

What's to become of the $700,000,000 investment once Japan is brushed out of our old rubber sources in Malaya and the Dutch East Indies? Will we pay more or less for tires, hot water bottles, girdles, garters, washers, insulation—which add up into the millions each year for the nation?

Will we ever depend on the Indies again, no matter what it costs us, as a sort of insurance, to keep the home synthetic rubber industry going?

These questions are just about rubber. But behind them lies the much bigger answer to whether we step towards that brave new world of economic health sketched in the Atlantic Charter and all the United Nations conferences.

Why? Because against our $700,000,000 investment in synthetic, the English and the Dutch have over a billion-and-a-half investment in natural rubber in the Far East. That's both on plantations and in native holdings. (Natives are the little fellows, like our little dairy farmers.) Close to 2,000,000 persons get their living from Far East rubber, to say nothing of those at home who get income from ruboer stock.

Come the war's end, the world will have more rubber than it used before the war.

Our synthetic rubber is now produced at the rate of 836,000 tons a year. The Indies' '39 production was 971,000 tons.

In 1939 the whole world used 1,001,000 tons, but if you add up what everyone (including Latin America, Africa etc.) can produce, you've got a total of 2,750,000 tons, against a calculated postward demand of 1,600,000 tons—about 70 per cent less than the rubber available. These figures come from Stanford University's rubber expert, K. E. Knorr, who is getting much attention here.

We, who produce synthetic, and U. K. and the Netherlands, who sell natural rubber, could fight it out like bull-headed farmers with too many tomatoes. One of us would have tomatoes left to throw away.

But this is the eventuality which United Nations leaders hope to avoid in several fields; aviation, shipping and rubber.

This has been done so far about rubber: U. K., the U. S. and the Netherlands sent experts to London last August. They found none of them knew enough to write an agreement. So they went home to study, to meet again informally when the delegates know more.

Demos Quarreling Over Surplus Goods Sales

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—The sharp divergence between the two major wings of the Democratic party is nowhere more evident than in the contest over the selection of the members of the three-man board that will direct disposal of surplus war property.

Childs

It is not surprising that the contest should focus here, because the policy followed by this board can shape the future direction of our economy. The board will dispose of a 50 billion-dollar chunk of goods and war plants, and even in rich America that isn't hay.

The conservative wing of the party, represented by James F. Byrnes, the president's No. 1 assistant, and Bernard M. Baruch, favors speedy sale of all surplus property with the least possible effect on existing industry and trade. They want to make way for private industry as quickly as possible.

Baruch Backs Clayton

Baruch has been the chief backer of Will Clayton, who was in charge of surplus property disposal until Congress changed the pitch and created a three-man board. Clayton is holding down the office, but only until the new members are named. Repeatedly Baruch has affirmed his faith in Clayton as a capable business executive who can do a complicated and important technical job.

The liberal-leftist wing of the party, with some strength among western senators and with organized labor, has concentrated much of its fire on Clayton, a longtime associate of Jesse Jones, as the symbol of reactionary business. They want surplus government property disposed of in such a way that monopolies will be broken and price levels sent downward.

It's hard to see how President Roosevelt can reconcile these two opposed points of view. While his natural inclination would probable be to go along with Byrnes and Baruch. He is just now very much in the debt of those who are urging him to name progressives to the three-man board.

For this reason the president may turn to compromise candidates, rejecting both those proferred by the Conservatives. Several new names have come into the field of speculation.

The strong possibility is that Brig. Gen. William O'Dwyer, now assigned to the Foreign Economic Administration, will get one of the three posts. O'Dwyer brought back from Italy a report on conditions in that tragic country which persuaded the president to make a change in policy.

As district attorney of Kings county in New York, O'Dwyer broke up the vicious murder, Inc., thereby making a national name for himself. He has frequently been mentioned as a possible Democratic candidate for governor of New York in 1946 to run against Governor Thomas E. Dewey, who, it is assumed, will inevitably seek re-election.

Stakes Are High

According to present intention, one of the Clayton-Jones candidates—Sam H. Husbands, aide to Jones in the RFC—will get another of the three places. And the third member of the board will be James Shepherd, a Los Angeles lawyer who has given strong political support to the Roosevelt administration.

Aside from the qualifications that O'Dwyer may possess, it seems to me that his appointment will have too political a look. It's not the kind of job that should be awarded on any basis except that of capacity.

Two other men are also mentioned as possibilities. One is David Lilienthal, head of Tennessee Valley authority. Lilienthal has had experience in reconciling the differences of a three-man board, having gone through one major upset in TVA. The other possible candidate is Robert G. Hutchins of the University of Chicago, who has been proposed in the past for several war jobs.

The sad thing is that this should have got into controversy at all. The stakes are bigger than any single group. A blunder might make the difference between prosperity and depression or worse.

Limbus is a theological term denoting the border of Hell, where dwell those who, while not condemned to torture, yet are deprived of the joy of Heaven.

FEATHERWEIGHT—The pretty young miss above is not the circus strong lady—it so happens that the aluminum tank she is nonchalantly holding aloft weighs just 21 pounds. Developed by ALCOA engineers in New York, the tank—30 pounds lighter than conventional type — will radically increase the amount of gasoline shipped by air to the China-Burma-India theater of war for use against the Japs. # QUADS ARRIVE BY THE SQUAD

It's Romance, Not War, Behind It All, Experts Say

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor

Washington—More twins, triplets and quads are being born in the United States since the war began than before.

The Bureau of the Census figures are: multiple births in 1933—24,220 and in 1942 a rise to 29,421.

At first glance it looks like Mars is adding romance and mystery to war marriages. Investigation supports the romance, wipes out all the mystery, and gives Mars a bad score when it comes to producing multiples.

Rush To The Altar

The reason there were more multiple births in 1942 than in 1933 was because many more babies were born, because the U. S. birth rate went up. More girls got married; a rush to the altar, which it will be recalled, started with adoption of Selective Service before we entered combat.

Along with the rising birth rate there naturally were more twins and other multiples.

That is no special credit to Mars. What's to his discredit in this multiple baby business is that the percentage of multiples actually declined. In 1933, of all babies born in the United States, 11 and a fraction per cent per thousand were twins, triplets or quads. That percentage stayed at 11 until 1940.

Beginning with the latter year, the percentage dropped to 10.8, went down one decimal point the next year and again a similar decimal point in 1942, the last year of completed census figures on babies.

The medical reason for the percentage decline in proportion of multiples is not clear. But an explanation which comes from statistics of birth rate is entirely clear.

This is the explanation. First born are not as likely to come in pairs or multiples as are children born later to same mother. The American increase in babies during this war is largely among new mothers, girls having their first babies.

Booming Birth Rate

In round numbers, the babies born in the United States in the last ten available years were 2,000,000 in 1933, a step-up to 2,100,000 in each of the following four years, then to 2,200,000 for two years, to 2,300,000 in 1940; 2,400,000 in 1941; 2,700,000 in 1942.

Triplets were 220 in 1933 and 277 in 1942.

Quads were five in each of those years. But in 1941, which in marriages rates as a war year, America had 12 sets of quads, which was twice as many as in the biggest previous year of the decade.

Russia May Join Allies In Drive Against Japan

BY KIRKE L. SIMPSON
(AP) War Analyst

The Mid-November week end that found a heavy allied attack beating against Germany's last exterior defenses in Western Europe was no less tense with expectancy elsewhere on global war fronts.

The pattern of the war against both the Nazis and the Nipponese was being reshaped in battle forges white-hot with action at the fighting fronts. Behind them were cumulative signs that at no distant date the two conflicts might fuse into a single struggle with Russia against Japan also.

The master event of the week, however, was the loosing by General Eisenhower of at least six of his allied armies in a massive winter campaign to break through to the Rhine and beyond. From the Meuse bend in Holland to the northern slopes of the Swiss Alps British, American and French troops were driving forward on a front nearly 400 miles wide.

Nazi Defenses Strained

Concentrated allied battle power aground and in the air was being thrown into the attack that was clearly straining German ability to meet it even from fixed fortifications and skillfully placed and designed field works.

News from Britain and France reflected allied staff belief that this could prove to be the last great pitched battle in the west of the war in Europe. German capacity for organized resistance along the whole front was being put to the ultimate strain, whatever might lie beyond a breakthrough.

That the foe long could endure such pressure without bringing up heavy reserves available only from other fronts in the east, the southeast and the south was all but unbelievable. And nowhere along the European battle perimeter was there a dormant sector except on the vistula in Poland.

That may be the crux of the Russian-Allied master plan of action at this stage. The Vistula Corridor that leads direct to Berlin from the east is the crucial sector of that front. Sweeping as have been Russian advances to invest Budapest and threaten Vienna in the southeast and deeply to invade East Prussia in the northeast, the prime value of those far-separated flanking operations has been their effect in paving the way for a Russian break-through blow on the vistula in the center.

Coordinated With Russians

Aside from its own deadly threat to disintegrate the Nazi Rhineland "West Wall" and carry the war wholly onto German soil, the allied attack in the west may be serving to complement Russian preparations for decisive action on the Vistula. Any weakening of German forces around Warsaw to provide reinforcements for the west front would immediately invite Red Army mass assaults in that sector barely 300 miles from Berlin.

Similarly, any combing of the Nazi front in Italy for west front reinforcements must see all Italy to the Alps soon lost to Germany. Any scaling down of forces already tottering under Russian blows in defense of Budapest and the approaches to Vienna likewise must see the Austrian backdoor to Germany forced open.

Japan is being forced into hardly less ominous a position even without the broad hints from Moscow that Russia may join the allied march against her. The climax of the battle of Leyte is near at hand. Much as would remain to be done to clear the Philippines of Nipponese invaders ultimate possession of the islands could no longer be in doubt.

There are already hints that Tokyo is prepared to see them torn of Japan's grip and is merely fighting a delaying action there to cover preparations for a final stand on the Chinese mainland and the islands of Japan themselves.

Fifth Column Now South Of Border

Rio De Janeiro. (AP) — Despite government action over the last three years in clearing out nests of Axis spies, the Rio De Janeiro press continues to warn its readers the Fifth Column danger is not yet over.

Typical is a recent comment of the afternoon newspaper Diario da Noite that "one continues to observe, here and there, the silent work of intrigue—a constant effort to create antipathy toward our Allies and belittle the importance of the causes which carried us into war."

Beda LaFave Is Bride of S-Sgt. Harold Thinglum

Miss Beda LaFave, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John LaFave of Wilson, became the bride of Staff Sergeant Harold I. Thinglum, son of Ole Thinglum of Muskegon, at a ceremony solemnized Tuesday morning, November 14, at 10 o'clock by Rev. Fr. F. A. Seifert of St. Francis Xavier church, Spalding.

The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hagman, of Wells, brother-in-law and sister of the bridegroom.

The bride wore a gown of white satin and lace, the bodice distinguished by a sweetheart neckline and the full skirt forming a train. Her veil of illusion was gathered to a coronet. She wore a heart shaped locket, the gift of the bridegroom as her only jewelry, and she carried a shower bouquet of white baby mums. Mrs. Hagman wore wine colored crepe with nail-head trim and a matching shoulder veil and her flowers were yellow and pink pompons.

Mrs. LaFave, mother of the bride wore a navy blue ensemble with a shoulder corsage of roses.

A reception for eighty guests was held at the home of the bride's parents, followed by a wedding dance at the Wilson hall. The bride's table at the home was centered by a four-tiered wedding cake, with the top ornament a miniature soldier and his bride, and at either side were bouquets of white baby mums.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Marquette and on November 26 will leave for Hot Springs, Ark., visiting enroute in Muskegon with Sgt. Thinglum's sister, Mrs. Oscar Johnson and family.

Worry Clinic

With Case Records Of A Psychologist

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE D-282: Janet D., aged 39, has two grown children.

"I have been married for 20 years," she began. "We were very happy up till a year ago. My husband is now 46.

"He started running around with a woman only 23 years of age. She was married when my husband first began dating her, but he encouraged her to divorce her husband.

"Now he is asking me for a divorce. They have been seen together at dances and card parties, and spend many an evening in a tavern.

"My older child is a boy. He is almost 18. He threatens to give his father a sound thrashing, for he and his sister are very much embarrassed over the matter.

"I have told my boy not to do anything rash, and have tried to hold my head up in public and ignore the gossip. But everybody knows of this affair.

The Age Old Story

"Perhaps you feel there has been a letdown on my part, Dr. Crane, but that isn't true, for I have kept my home spotless and am an excellent cook. Besides, I have been active in the PTA and have done everything I could to rear my children properly.

"Do you think I should give my husband a divorce? I still love him and don't believe in divorce, anyway.

"But he keeps demanding a divorce. He is kidding himself, however, about his desire to marry this other woman, for he has been impotent for several years."

Impotence Is Specific

A man may be impotent with one woman, but not with another, for the usual type of impotence in a healthy male, regardless of age is psychological.

It is often a specific form of impotence, pertaining usually to his wife. Thus he looks to other women whose greater sex appeal may re-arouse him.

You wives may vigorously come to the defense of your sex and argue that this husband doesn't deserve a good wife like Janet.

Agreed, but what do you suggest next? Perhaps you will say, "Give him a divorce, for it will be good riddance of bad rubbish."

But Janet doesn't believe in divorce. Besides, she says she loves him. So what do you loyal suffragettes urge next?

A horsewhipping? But love is not restored by horsewhipping. You can also malign the male sex and call it egotistical, selfish and unfair, but that reaction on your part still doesn't solve Janet's problem.

How To Prevent Impotence

If you'll employ good psychology, however, you can help Janet. This successful formula involves intelligent strategy and effort, dieting and seductive technique, but if you want results, you must follow the formula that will get them.

You must not cite your good housekeeping and devoted maternal care, your PTA activitiy and church work, as evidence for holding your husband.

He may admire those traits in you, and come back a few years later after he has had his middle-age fling, but if you want to check or prevent his fling at the outset, then get down to fundamental causes.

Banish his fear of premature old age by becoming more seductive and aggressive.

Send for my medico-psychological bulletin, "How to Prevent Impotence in the Male," enclosing a 3c stamped envelope, plus a dime. If you wish to insure your future marital happiness, use the right formula! You will not find it in your cook books.

Church Events

Special Service

As is customary in all Christian Science churches, a special Thanksgiving service will be held on Thanksgiving Day in Escanaba at 11 a. m. in the church edifice, 325 South 13th Street.

Following the usual order of service there will be a brief period in which members of the congregation may express their gratitude for healings and other help which they have received during the past year.

The Golden Text from II Corinthians (2:14), will be very appropriate for the occasion and reads: "Thanks be unto God, which always causeth us to triumph in Christ, and maketh manifest the savour of his knowledge by us in every place."

The Bible citations include: "Rejoice in the Lord alway: and again I say, Rejoice. Be careful for nothing; but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God." (Phil. 4: 4, 6).

Among the citations from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, will be the following: "Are we really grateful for the good already received? Then we shall avail ourselves of the blessings we have, and thus be fitted to receive more. Gratitude is much more than a verbal expression of thanks. Action expresses more gratitude than speech" (p. 3).

* * *

Thanksgiving Service

A special Thanksgiving Day service will be held at St. Stephen's Episcopal church on Thursday, November 23, beginning at 10 o'clock. There will be Holy Communion, a brief Thanksgiving message by the rector and suitable hymns and prayers. All are cordially invited.

Rosary Crusade

The Daughters of Isabella rosary crusade prayers will be offered at St. Joseph's church on Wednesday from 3 to 4 o'clock.

FOUR DON'TS IN MAKING COFFEE

Carelessness can result in disappointing flavor variation

Hit and miss methods have no place in the making of coffee. For consistently delicious flavor, certain rules must be observed.

Don't guess in measuring. Measure 2 level tablespoons of coffee for each cup of water. Vary water slightly for exact strength desired.

Don't have a dirty coffee-maker. Coffee oils tend to cling to inner surfaces and impart an undesirable flavor to the coffee. For absolute cleanliness, the utensil should be thoroughly washed and "aired."

Don't vary timing. Coffee should be in contact with water for a definite length of time. Once time is determined for the type of utensil used, stick to it.

Don't boil or overheat coffee. This is detrimental to flavor because it drives off the aromatic substances from the coffee.

The choice of a coffee known for its uniform goodness is very important. Hills Bros. Coffee is a blend of the finest coffees obtainable, and this blend is roasted to absolute perfection by an exclusive Hills Bros. process, "Controlled Roasting."

ROTES HEAR OF FOUR HORSEMEN

Former Gridder of Notre Dame Talks Before Rotarians

An interesting talk on the 1924 football team of Notre Dame, one of the finest, if not the best team in the history of that university, was given yesterday before the Gladstone Rotary club by Rotarian Joseph Poffenberger.

That was the year of the Four Horsemen as the backfield was dubbed and the Seven Mules, the nickname given to the line.

It was one of the lightest teams in the history of the university that is noted for great grid machines, but the backfield had blinding speed and the line was powerful and mobile.

The team was composed of Chuck Collins, left end; Joe Bach, left tackle; John Weible, left guard; Adam Walsh, center; Noble Kizer, right guard; Rip Miller, right tackle; Ed Huntsinger, right end; Harry Stuldreher at quarterback; Jim Crowley at left half; Don Miller at right half, and Elmer Layden at fullback.

Adam Walch who gained All-America rating was the heaviest man on the team at 188 with Quarterback Stuhldreher lightest at 154.

The team went through the 1924 season undefeated and untied and defeated Stanford 27-10 in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day 1925.

Numerous anecdotes from games of that year were related by the speaker who played football two years at Notre Dame.

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—In the hurly-burly of the election and its aftermath, a piece of news was overlooked that is of great significance for the future. Charles E. Wilson, President of General Electric, announced that the products to be made by that huge company when reconversion comes will be sold at pre-war prices.

Childs

In other words Wilson went directly contrary to the prevailing line of talk that automobiles and washing machines must be priced 10 to 35 per cent higher in the post-war period. He assailed that kind of talk as "shallow and passive thinking," which certainly it is.

Favors 40-Hour Week

Moreover, at a conference in Atlanta, Wilson went on to say that restoration of the 40-hour week must not mean an abrupt drop in take-home pay. Industrialists, he said, must be smart enough to make sure that take-home pay on a 40-hour basis represents the higher level of earnings which now prevail. And that can only be done, as Wilson made clear, by high production.

Here is business statesmanship of the first rank. It is the kind of leadership we must have if we are to move into a new era of prosperity.

The objective at this moment is to suppress any talk of reconversion and post-war planning. The belief is that such talk, along with the token reconversion which has taken place, is seriously retarding the war effort. Henry J. Kaiser, the west coast industrialist, told the President that thousands of workers were giving up their shipyard jobs.

At the request of the war and Navy Departments, Wilson called off two conferences to discuss general Electric's post-war plans. It was feared that these conferences would add to the end-of-the war psychology.

Workers Fear Insecurity

But isn't it important to look at the motives behind the exodus out of war jobs? I'd guess that in a great many instances it is fear of insecurity. It's an effort to beat the other fellow to a "permanent" job. It reflects a lack of confidence in the future.

The planning Wilson is doing should help to allay these fears. He is speaking boldly and confidently of the ability of one big segment of industry to provide jobs at high wages and goods at low prices.

He is saying, in other words, that there's no need to scramble for a few "permanent" jobs which wouldn't be permanent, on a scarcity basis, in any event. You can stay on your war job because there is every reason to believe that there will be peacetime jobs for all.

"Prices must be held in line during the critical months after the close of the European war," Wilson said. "Some 90 per cent of the goods on the market on victory day will be fairly priced, and we must not let the other 10 per cent of products, which have been off the market for two years, throw us off balance.

"We are putting aside all ideas of a limited two-cylinder production and placing it in volume on wide distribution. In 1920, some $15,000,000,000 in income was shut off with the closing of plants and reductions in working hours. There were 100,000 bankruptcies and a 44 percent drop in industrial payrolls. That must not happen again. It can happen again during the post-war period of readjustment unless there is a strong effort on the part of every business to hold down its prices, utilize its productive efficiency, cut is extravagant distribution costs and maintain its workers' income. Along with this must come a revision of tax laws to take care of risks."

That is planning for confidence. With a little assurance for the future, Americans will stay on their war jobs.

JUSTICE COURT IS BUSY PLACE

Many Game Cases Settled Many Others Pending

Petty violations, most of them affecting state game laws, have made the local justice court a busy place the past couple of days. Six cases were disposed by Justice W. G. Stephens Saturday afternoon and 12 more are on the docket.

Nels Olson, of Munising, and Carl Obney, Frederick Obney and Thomas Obney of Ohio pleaded guilty Saturday to a charge of carrying loaded guns in a car. Each pleaded guilty as charged and were fined $10.00 each and assessed additional costs of $8.50 each. They were all riding in the same car. The arrests were made in Seney township by Carrol Nakel, conservation officer.

Claude Jackson and Paul Nauta, of Grand Rapids, were arrested Friday in camp in Seney township charged with the illegal possession of a doe. Their plea of guilty before Justice Stephens on Saturday afternoon brought them fines of $25 each alone with individual costs of $8.50.

Ernest Miller and Peter Gonichka of Seney township, were arrested Saturday by Conservation Officer Ernest J. Derwin, charged with carrying loaded guns in a wildlife sanctuary. They pleaded guilty via long distance and were placed on probation after paying $8.50 court costs.

Henry Miller was arraigned in Justice Court Saturday afternoon after he had been arrested by a state police officer on a charge of drunken driving. He pleaded guilty, drew a fine of $50 and $5 costs and his operator's license was revoked.

SENDS CAPTURED NAZIS EMBLEM

Frank Gierke Receives German Banner From Son

A Nazi flag, captured in Germany, was received in Friday's mail by Postmaster Frank Gierke from his son, Pfc. Robert Gierke, who is with the American forces fighting on German soil.

The banner is of good wool material of red surrounding a white circle with the swastika in the center. It is about 30 inches in width and seven feet in length. Also sent with the package was an armband on which the Nazi emblem was embroidered.

While greatly pleased with the souvenirs, Mr. Gierke is at a loss to know what to do with them. "It wouldn't do to hang up one of those things—especially in a post-office," he said.

Detroit Hunter Is Shot In Wrist

John C. Morgan, 40, of Detroit, was shot in the right arm Sunday afternoon by an unidentified person near Steuben. The bullet pierced Morgan's wrist.

Morgan and his companion, Gilbert Butler, were trailing a bear and became separated in the woods. Butler, who resides at Grosse Pointe Park, told officers that he heard Morgan rustling through the woods and that he heard a shot fired.

Conservation officers and state police of the Manistique post are continuing their investigation of the accident to determine the identity of the hunter who shot Morgan. It is believed he was not a member of Morgan's party.

Morgan was taken to Shaw hospital in Manistique for treatment of the wound. Physicians who treated him expressed the opinion that he may be permanently crippled as a result of his injury.

After treatment at Manistique Morgan was flown to Detroit in an airplane.

CRISLER GIVES STIFF WORKOUT

Michigan May Upset Ohio At Conference Game Next Saturday

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 20 (AP)—If hard work will do the trick, Michigan's surprising football team will upset Ohio State and walk off with the Western Conference gridiron crown at Columbus, Ohio, next Saturday.

Coach H. O. (Fritz) Crisler wasted no time this afternoon in getting down to brass tacks as he led his Wolverine gridders through a stiff limbering up workout and promised more and rougher drills for the remainder of the week.

Two Wolverine regulars were allowed to take things easy, however. Tackle Clem Bauman and Quarterback Joe Ponsetto nursed severe leg bruises suffered in Saturday's game with Wisconsin here but both are expected to be ready for Saturday's title tussle at Columbus.

Michigan's Negro freshman flash from Defiance, O., Gene Derricotte, will be all set for the OSU game although he saw action only momentarily against Wisconsin Saturday. Derricotte injured an ankle against Illinois nine days ago but has recovered satisfactorily.

Crisler and his coaching aides spent most of the day Monday poring over scouting reports of last week's Ohio-Illinoois contest and developing defensive and offensive tactics to use against the bruising Bucks who have yet to taste defeat this year.

The Wolverines, defeated only by Indiana in nine games to date, must beat Ohio State to obtain Michigan's first outright Big Ten football championship since 1933.

Perkins And Cooks Quints In Opener

Intense Rivalry Marks Ohio-Michigan Football

BY HAROLD HARRISON

Columbus, O., Nov. 20. (AP)—If there ever was a football "natural," it's coming up here Saturday between Ohio State's unbeaten and untied Bucks and Michigan's once-beaten Wolverines.

Over the years, there have been few gridiron rivalries more intense than that between Ohio State and Michigan but that's only incidental this year.

The game Saturday will have more angles than you'll find in junior's geometry book and because of them there will be a capacity crowd of around 74,000 for the game.

First, Ohio State now is just 60 minutes of playing time away from its first perfect regular season in 24 years.

Next, a combination of circumstances has made this game the Western Conference's championship tilt. Ohio State can take the title for the second time in three years by beating or tying the Wolverines. A Michigan victory would give the Wolverines the crown, with six games won and one lost, against five won and one lost for Ohio State and possibly Purdue.

And then there is that intriguing Rose Bowl possibility. If the Big Ten decides next Sunday to lift its ban on post-season games, it's a good bet the winner of the game here will be invited to the New Year's Day classic.

Acting Head Coach Carroll Widdoes of Ohio State reported today the Bucks came out of Saturday's game with Illinois without any serious injuries. Ohio State has won every game by at least two touchdowns and Widdoes described the Michigan game as "the toughest one yet."

All reserved seats for the game Saturday have been sold for two weeks. Eleven thousand general admission tickets will go on sale at noon Friday and Ohio State officials doubt if they'll last more than two hours.

Hermansville Cage Squad Plays Vulcan

Coach Cyril L. Mantei, will make his initial debut as coach of Hermansville high school Redskins, when he sends his inexperienced aggregation onto the floor against a formidable foe, the Vulcan Giant Killers, In the season opener for the local school at the Vulcan gym Tuesday evening.

Coach Mantei coached at Alpha last year and is an alumnus of Northern Michigan College of Education. He is a Menominee high school graduate.

Hermansville again this year is using the unheated community club for practice sessions and through the cooperation of the Powers-Spalding board oof Education, Hermansville is going to use the Powers Hall for home contests.

When Hermansville enters the floor Tuesday evening it will be the most inexperienced team in 10 years to wear the colors Cardinal and White. However in practice sessions, Mantei has been drilling the boys hard and their willingness to learn has paid dividends in sessions up to now.

Mantei's charges rate as underdogs against Vulcan. The giant killers will have the height and experience to offset the Redskins speed. Hermansville has been practicing indoors for a month and as the season progresses the team gains experience, it will no doubt be a powerful contender in Class E.

When the Redskins opened practice sessions, Mantei had only two lettermen back from last year's team to start with. Robert Machern, regular guard and Ernest Dani, reserve forword were on hand—but gone from last year's brilliant team were: Sutherland, Dani, Kelly, Rodman, Minerick, Maga—they all have graduated.

Coach Mantei looks to this game as to see the strength of his team. Some of these boys will be in the game for the first time and up to now it has been some what hard to determine the actual team strength. Mantei plans to use his full squad against Vulcan, in effort to find some strong combinatioon.

A group of freshmen boys, Mauli, Sutherland, Maga, Doran have been doing well in practice sessions and are coming along nicely. These boys along with Thomas Wery, George Lacoursiere, Edward Plunger, and Jack Bell will fill out the remainder of the squad with MacEachern and Dani. However, these boys will be in the game for the first time. Mantei is undecided aboout his starting line-up, but it looms for sure as MacEachern and Dani at forwards with Georgie Mauli at center. At the guard positions, William Sutherland, Donald Maga, George LaCoursiere and Thomas Wery have been fighting it out for the starting berths. Jack Bell, reserve center is ready if needed to alternate with Mauli at center. This team is small, but scrappy and poossesses plenty of speed.

Seven Hearts Wins In Riggs Handicap

Baltimore, Nov. 20 (AP) — With Twilight Tear scratched just before post time because of track conditions, J. Graham Brown's Seven Hearts sped to an easy two length victory over Bon Jour today in the 19th running of the $25,000-added Riggs handicap at Pimlico race track.

Breezing to an early lead, Jockey Paul Keiper had the Louisville colt in front all the way, as Seven Hearts shook off a brief stretch challenge by Charles Turner's Bon Jour to annex the $21,600 first money and boost his year's earnings to $87,335.

GIANTS DEFEAT PACKERS, 24-0

Bears, Rams, Redskins In Pro Grid League Also Beaten

New York, Nov. 19 (AP)—The New York Giants put on their greatest defensive display of the season and again proved a team of opportunists today as they blanked the Green Bay Packers 24 to 0 at the Polo Grounds before 56,481, the largest crowd of the National Football league season.

In keeping alive their hopes of winning the league's seastern title and handing the Packers their second setback of the season, the Giants turned in the best showing they ever have made against Green Bay.

Led by Len Younce, veteran guard, the Giant line completely bottled up the Packers' attack while rookie Howle Livingston paced the New Yorkers' offensive that led to a touchdown in each of the first, second and fourth periods and a field goal by Ken Strong in the third.

Don Hutson, slippery Green Bay end, failed to score for the second time this season. He caught only four passes for a gain of 31 yards as the Giants watched his every move and often blocked him out of the play before he could get past the line of scrimmage.

The Packers outscored the Giants in first downs, 18 to 9, but their aerial attack often backfired with the New Yorkers intercepting five and running them back for 100 yards—the first of which got the Giants away in front in the first period.

RAMS BEAT CARD-PITT

Chicago, Nov. 19 (AP)—The Cleveland Rame, using power plays for the most part, scored in every period today as they rolled over the hapless Chicago Cardinal-Pittsburgh Steeler combination before 3,500 fans, 33 to 6. It was the Rams' fourth league win, and their second over the Card-Pitts, who have yet to win a National Football league game.

Sparked by Lou Zontini, the Rams took command almost from the start, scored a touchdown in each of the first two periods, and then coasted on in to a comparatively easy victory. The Card-Pitt combine, lacking a scoring punch, did most of their ground-gaining in midfield. They outscored the Rams on first downs, 12 to 9, but were unable to make any progress when scoring opportunities were presented.

But in total yardage, Cleveland was far ahead, principally because of long touchdown plays.

LIONS BEAT BEARS

Detroit, Nov. 19 (AP)—Scoring four times through the air, the Detroit Lions carved out a top-heavy 41 to 21 victory over the Chicago Bears in a National Football league game here today before 21,960 fans.

Detroit grabbed a 14 to 0 lead early in the second period on a pair of aerial touchdowns thrown by "Flatfoot" Frank Sinkwich and never trailed, though the Bears squared things at one point 14 to 14, on a pair of quick touchdown passes from Ensign Sid Luckman to Conie Mack Berry.

Art Vantone, Detroit halfback, raced 91 yards with a Chicago kickoff just before the half ended to boost the Lions to a lead they never relinquished.

Tie for Second Place

The Lions, beating a Bear club for the first time since 1940, counted three times in the third period to make a rout of it and thus climbed into a deadlock with Chicago for second place in the league's Western division.

EAGLES TAKE EASTERN LEAD

Washington, Nov. 19 (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles today crushed the Washington Redskins, 37 to 7, to take first place in the Eastern division of the National Football league before a crowd of 35,540.

The Redskins scored in the first minute of play, then were through. Wilbur Moore Lugged the ball 95 yards, 36 in turning the opening kickoff and 59 on a short pass from Frankie Filchock.

Then the Eagles took charge. Rushing Filchock and Sammy Baugh so hard that the Redskins' passers spent most of the afternoon sitting down.

BOSTON WINS CLOSE ONE

Boston, Nov. 19 (AP)—The Boston Yanks completed their initial National Professional Football league home season by out-battling the Brooklyn Tigers for a 13-6 victory today at Fenway Park. George Facego's 25-yard scoring pass to Winger Keith Ranspot late in the final period was the Yanks' clincher.

Find Rules Don't Cover This Case

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 20 (AP) — Hockey officials tonight were mulling over this scoring incident, which is believed without precedent:

Goalie Jimmy Hogan in a Ford Hockey league game here made a try to block All Shields' shot for the net. He felt the puck under his armpit but at the same time he saw the red light flash, signifying a score, and a puck in the back of the net. Hogan lifted his arm and a puck dropped to the ice.

The rubber disc, made in layers, had split in two.

The hockey rule book provides no helpful clause toward solving the problem.

Bond Buyers Clamoring For Army-Navy Tickets

BY FRED STABLEY

Baltimore, Nov. 2 (AP)—"No sir, we can't do anyone any special favors. Mail a bond receipt and $4.80 to the Maryland War Finance committee and you'll get a ticket to the Army-Navy game."

"Miss Smith, this party wants to know if she can buy 50 bonds in the name of a club and get tickets."

"Miss Smith, here's Washington again. It's a senator's office."

"Winston-Salem is more than ten miles from Baltimore, isn't it?"

"Miss Smith . . . ." and so on, ad infinitum.

Jangling telephones, jumbled people and jittery nerves — that was the normally sedate Maryland war finance committee office today a few hours after applications for service classic tickets became acceptable.

Across town somewhere, at an undisclosed rendezvous, eight men prayed for volunteer assistants and plunged into the first three batches of mailed applications — approximately 5,000 envelopes.

It's a cinch more than enough applications to fill the stadium — the acceptable mailed variety and not those given by phone or in person—will be neatly numbered in order of opening long before the first tickets are to be mailed out early next week.

No, the committee or Chairman F. W. Wrightson doesn't know how many civilians they can cram in the expected 70,000-plus capacity stadium after expansion now under way. The Army and Navy have first call on tickets and what's left over go to civilians.

The Navy, at Annapolis, will honor some 19,000 applications received for the game when it was due to be played in Annapolis.

The War Department in Washington said the Army athletic association could meet ticket requests for its subscriber members —four each, and that other personnel should apply through the Maryland war finance committee.

And they are — in wholesale numbers.

No Rest for The Wicked

Southwest Pacific (AP)—Combat fliers of the 13th Airforce have been visiting regularly an airmen's rest camp, smashing down handsome frame buildings, damaging neat gardens, tearing up beautiful boulevards. It happens to be a Japanese fliers' rest camp on the shores of Lake Tondano, 2,000 feet above sea level in the Celebes. Latest forays over the rest camp indicate that the weary Japanese aviators are taking their rest leave elsewhere.

STOCK MARKET KEEPS BALANCE

BY VICTOR EUBANK

New York, Nov. 20 (AP)—A little short covering and investment bidding helped the stock market keep its balance today although it was neglected, generally, by Wall Street which had eyes mainly for the opening of the sixth big War Bond drive.

Except for scattered climbers, trends were narrow from the start and dealing slow.

Dividends and earnings apparently remained as the principal bullish stimulant. Individual situations inspired some purchasing. Many customers held aloof, however, to await the usual year-end tax selling, the fate of the "little steel" wage formula and important battle developments on the western front.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was up .2 of a point at 54.8, best showing since November 2. Of 803 issues appearing, 374 were up, 215 down and 214 unchanged. Transfers totalled 691,840 shares, smallest for a 5-hour stretch since October 31, compared with 705,660 Friday.

Ahead were Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Goodyear, International Telephone, Pepsi-Cola, American & Foreign Power 2nd preferred, Du Pont, Grumman Aircraft and Allied Chemical. Minor losers included Texas Co., Goodrich, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Anaconda, Kennecott, Philip Morris and International Nickel.

Among curb gainers were National Candy, Puget Sound Power, American Cyanamid and Brewster Aero. Slipping were American Gas, Pittsburgh & Lake Erie and N. J. Zinc. Turnover here was 225,980 shares versus 240,345 in the previous full session.

BONDS MOVE UP

New York, Nov. 20 (AP)—Paced by rails and industrial specialties, the bond market moved up over a fairly broad range today.

Advances ranged from small fractions to a point and in numerous cases 2 and 3 against only minor losses in the major groups. All departments of the Associated Press averages ended up .1 of a point with the rails at a new high since 1937. Sales of $9,960,900 compared with $8,158,600 last Friday.

Various loans of the Baltimore & Ohio, extremely firm most of last week, extended their gains by 1-8 to 2½ points. Sales in the 10 listed issues reached the unusually high total of $2,242,000. The convertibles of 1960 were the most heavily traded.

Other firm spots included bonds of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh, Central of Georgia, Rock Island, Consolidated Oil, Illinois Bell Telephone, Illinois Central, Kansas City Southern, Michigan Central, Katy, Missouri Pacific, New York Central, New Haven and Texas & Pacific.

U. S. governments took a back seat as the entire investment fraternity plunged into the sixth War Loan drive and if precedent is followed, there will be little activity in the listed bonds until the treasury has accomplished its goal of raising $14 billion.

Foreign dollar bonds were narrow and a little mixed.

CHICAGO PRICES

No. 1 washed, 2.84 to 2.96, cobbler commercials, 2.30.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Nov. 20 (AP)—Rye broke more than a cent a bushel in grain futures trading today and most of the rest of the list showed fractional losses. Markets were unsettled throughout the session with corn showing greatest resistance to selling pressure.

Heaviest trade was in the corn market where cash interests and shorts were best buyers during the early trade.

Wheat was dull and held within narrow price limits. Scattered buying caused the market to firm shortly after the opening but the prices eased later under the pressure of local selling and weakness at Minneapolis where an increase in cash receipts was reported.

Oats and barley followed the action of other grains, easing after early advances. Commission houses with northwestern connections had oats for sale. The break in rye had a depressing effect.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

The manner in which the "big name" teams of the National Pro football league were pushed around Sunday indicates that the war has served to level the teams in a most convincing manner. The Packers were jolted, 24-0, by New York; the ChiBears were swamped, 41-21, by the Detroit Lions and the Washington Redskins were humbled, 37-7 by the Philadelphia Eagles. In pre-war years such a trio of startling "upsets" in a single day would probably be cause for a league investigation. This year, however, the results are not too surprising because none of the pro teams resemble pre-war strength.

Despite the fact that the pros have had to reduce the quality of their football this year, they still present a type of game that is thrilling. The caliber of the professional league has naturally dropped because of wartime conditions, but the decline has not been so obvious that it has threatened to hurt the league. Rather, it has served to equalize the teams in comparative strength and thereby created keener competition. There are still fellows like Don Hutson around to thrill the fans with remarkable pass snatching, and fellows like Sid Luckman to present lessons in masterful field generalship.

* * *

Although the Packers were forced to absorb an embarrassing 24 to 0 shellacking Sunday, they backed their way into the championship of the western division because the Chicago Bears were erased from contention by the Lions. Thus the Packers are assured of a place in the playoff for the league title, with the only question still in doubt concerning the eastern champion. The Philly Eagles however, moved into the lead in the eastern section as a result of its victory over Washington.

Army Improves Woolen Socks

Washington. (AP)—A new treatment has been developed by the Quartermaster Corps to prevent shrinkage of woolen socks issued to American fighting man, the War Department announces. The treatment has been used only for socks so far, but tests indicate it may be applicable to any all-wool or part-wool fabric.

Early in the war, the Quartermaster found that shrinkage from laundering was one of the principal reasons for socks wearing out. The new process, known as "halegenation," was developed and field tests showed that treated wool socks wore up to 60 per cent longer than those not treated. The process is simple, it is said, and may be accomplished with dyeing machinery now used by the sock industry.

Commando Leaps Before Looking

Palo Alto, Calif. (AP)—Toni Angland, 7, junior commando, stormed his house by sliding down the chimney and was rescued only after city firemen tossed him a rope. Toni found that while the chimney opening at the top was plenty large the fireplace outlet at the bottom was not.
